NEWTON HITTING BEATS BROOKLINE 11 TO 8

When the first seven men to bat hit four singles and two home runs among them, the opposition is bound to be worried, particularly if the hitting team is Newton High and the opposition is Brookline High, with a league championship pennant within reach. This was the situation at Dickinson Field in Newtonville last Monday, when Coach Jeff Jones saw his boys tame the league leaders with a barrage of safe hits, backed by the fine pitching of John Quinn. Newton won 11-8.

Sylvan Simon singled to open Newton's first of the first inning. Captain Bill Spilman stepped to the plate and, for the third time this year, smashed out a first-inning home run, the ball tearing across the foul line just beyond third base. Bert "Toot" Marruzzo singled to left field, advanced to third on Pete Morrison's single to right, and scored on a passed ball.

Tornabene's Homer Scores Three

Newton led 3-0 with none out, and Joe Walsh, Brookline's ace pitcher, came in from shortstop. He passed Bullet Byrne, and Jim Tornabene clouted a home run ball over first base that scooted off into foul territory just as Spilman's homer had done earlier in the inning. The ball led Brookline fielders a brief chase down the track and went into the grass in front of the stadium concrete stands. Coletti hit a scorcher through second base, went to third on an overthrow by the first baseman, and scored on Simon's bingle to right field. Cormier was cut down at the plate on a fielder's choice and Marruzzo fled out to end the inning.

Brookline picked up two runs in the Community Chest Plans

Village Campaign Chairman for the 1934 Campaign.

On the basis of the experience in Newton Highlands, it was decided that each village should have its own Chest Campaign Headquarters next fall, such a set-up being of great help in the Campaign and enabling a concentration of workers for report-time and good-fellowship afterwards.

It was also voted that Village quotas should be established, based on the three-year average of the Campaigns to date, but the final quotas will be set when the Budget Committee has reached its decision as to the amount necessary to carry on the work of The Chest and its Member-Agencies.

Mr. Frank L. Richardson, Treasurer of the Newton Community Chest, was unanimously elected the Campaign Treasurer for 1935.

Numerous other plans are under way and steps will be taken to keep all citizens of Newton informed as to the progress of this vitally important factor in the life of the City.

The 1935 Chest Campaign Organization requests that all citizens bear the dates of the 5th to 15th in mind as the Fall Campaign dates for the united efforts to help maintain Newton's present standard of social service and accomplishments.

Mr. Lyscom A. Bruce, Jr., executive secretary of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., is attending a conference at Montreal, Canada, over the weekend. The conference is that of the Community Chests and Councils marking the seventeenth anniversary of the formation of this association.

Appointment To New City Office

David A. Noonan of 297 Derby street, West Newton has been appointed provisionally to the newly created position of Superintendent of Equipment of the Newton Street Department. The salary attached is $2400 per year. A civil service examination to fill this position permanently will soon be held and Mr. Noonan will be among those who will take the examination. He was born at Newton Lower Falls 42 years ago and resided at 416 Grove street before moving to West Newton. He graduated from Newton High School in 1910 and served overseas during the World War in the Motor Transport Division of the Quartermaster's Corps at Langes, France. He is a member of Newton Post, American Legion, is married and has one child. His experience in the automotive industry has included managing the Codman Square Garage at Dorchester, owning a trucking business and operating a "drive yourself" automobile business in Dorchester.

ERA Workers To Survey Homes

Eighteen "white collar" workers from the ERA lists will make a survey of homes in Newton during the next eight months to get information regarding oil heaters. They will draw plans of the locations of heaters, tanks, shut-offs and electric switches. This information will be given to the Newton Fire Department. It is expected that about 10,000 homes will be visited.

Street Carnival and Amateur Night at Auburndale

The second annual Gala Street Carnival of the Centenary Methodist Church is to be held on Central street, Friday and Saturday, June 14th and 15th.

The plans point to a bigger and better affair than ever. The entertainment the first night includes a concert by the American Legion, Newton Post Band of 45 pieces.

The feature of the Carnival is the open air Amateur Nite on Saturday, June 15th. The entrants already include harmony duets and quartets, eight piece German band, minstrel midgets, harmonic band, all kinds of dancing, impersonations by talented electionists, musical varieties, accordion players, and classical selections. This event is open to all amateur talent of Greater Boston and is expected to be one of the best of its kind in this vicinity. Numerous cash awards are to be made. Contestants may register at Reed's Jewelry Store, or call West Newton 2424-M.

A cafeteria supper is to be served previous to the Amateur Nite. The entertainment for the children includes pony rides, a doll carriage ride, and junior Olympic games. Door prizes are to be awarded each night.

Rob and Burn W. Newton Home

The home of Mrs. Celia Wellman, 22 Davis ave., West Newton, was entered by a burglar last Friday night and in addition to being looted was set on fire and damaged to the extent of about $3500. Similar to a number of recent thefts in houses at Waltham, the burglar who broke into the Wellman house apparently carried a candle. A partly burned candle was found in a room on the second floor, drops of paraffin were found in other rooms, and it is supposed that the candle flame ignited clothing in a closet on the first floor.

The burglar entered the house by breaking a rear window. It was the second time in two weeks that the house had been burglarized. Mrs. Wellman had departed Friday afternoon on a week's trip to Atlantic City. The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock by neighbors. It spread from the closet to the living room and burned through the walls up to the second floor.

Arliiss In "Cardinal Richelieu" Is Film Feature

"Cardinal Richelieu" starring Mr. George Arliiss opens at the Paramount Newton starting Sunday, June 2, for four days. This marks the distinguished star's sixth great historical screen performances. With this portrayal the red-robed prelate who stood behind the throne of Louis XIII of France takes his place beside Disraeli, Alexander Hamilton, Voltaire, Nathan Rothschild and the Duke of Wellington.

In this most recent and most pretentious effort, Arliiss has the support of Maureen O'Sullivan, Edward Arnold, Francis Lister, Douglas Dumbrille and many more great stars of today's screen. On the same program is Paul Muni in "Black Fury." Opening Thursday to Saturday June 16th, "Reckless" is featured in a mammoth musical drama with great supporting cast including Franchot Tone and May Robson. The companion picture will be Richard Barthelmess in "Four Hours to Kill" with Joe Morrison. Bob Mills and His Kiddie Revue in person every Saturday matinee. Starting Sunday June 16th, the picture every one has been waiting for James Cagney in "G-Men."

Senator Hollis deserves credit, together with the majority of the members of the State Senate in killing a bill obviously designed to help exculpate drunken drivers by giving anyone arrested for such an offence the

ABOUT TOWN

By Edward H. Powers

One of the most impractical petitions submitted to the Newton Board of Aldermen for some time is that received from some residents of Charlesbank rd., asking that parking restrictions on that street be removed. Several years ago it became necessary to make Charlesbank rd. a one-way street from St. James st. and to restrict parking on it to the southerly side. The street is very narrow and has two sharp, right-angle curves. Heavy traffic travels over the street going from Newton Corner to the State rd. along the Charles River toward Faneuil. When traffic was permitted in both directions on Charlesbank rd. and automobiles were parked on both sides, it was difficult and frequently impossible for automobiles using the street to get through. At the request of Chief of Police Hughes the Aldermen placed the traffic and parking restrictions on the street. Also, in an effort to improve traffic conditions and prevent accidents the street was widened at the second right-hand curve going from Newton Corner, opposite number 119.

The several residents of the street who have presented the petition state that, "We find it difficult to conform with traffic regulations of that street. As it is now, going east, parking is allowed only on the right-hand side of the street, and it would seem logical to allow parking on the left-hand side, especially at the curve opposite 119 Charlesbank rd., which is almost twice as wide as any other part of the street, or perhaps declare a parking zone at that point." It is hardly logical to ask for spot parking on a street where parking is restricted to one side. Strangers would naturally suppose that they could park legally on either side of the street. And if parking were permitted on both sides at 119 it would defeat the purpose for which this 90-degree curve was widened.

The real solution to the inconvenience experienced by residents of Charlesbank rd. and the many automobile drivers who use this narrow street is one that we have advocated for many years. Widen Nonantum place and by so doing provide a short and direct traffic communication between Newton Corner and Charles River Parkway. To make this long needed improvement would only entail the taking of three houses and one store and it would take almost all traffic off narrow, winding Charlesbank rd. and leave that street practically for the exclusive use of the people who reside on it.

These are topsy-turvy days in which things are largely haywire and we have become more or less accustomed to weird actions by persons in both private and public life. But, making allowance for all this, it is difficult to understand the mental processes of the new State Commissioner of Insurance, Francis J. DeCelles, in the preposterous proposal he submits to change the compulsory automobile liability insurance law in this State. Under DeCelles' plan compulsory insurance would be restricted to cover pedestrians for all injuries, and the occupants of other cars only to the extent of death or dismemberment. Insurance against other injuries would not be required. According to DeCelles, his plan would cut the cost of insurance 42%.

It may be presumptuous for us to criticize Mr. DeCelles because when his appointment as commissioner was announced, it was stated in the papers that he is a man of great ability and erudition. Nevertheless, he proposes that if one is among the thousands injured yearly while riding in automobiles because of the recklessness or drunkenness of other drivers, one could not obtain compensation for serious or permanent injuries unless one was fortunate or unfortunate enough to lose an arm or a leg. One might receive a punctured lung, a ruptured kidney, fractures of the pelvis, arms or legs, blindness or any of serious, torturing, disabling injuries, but under DeCelles' ridiculous reasoning, one would have to grin and bear it. The only explanation we can imagine for DeCelles' brilliant contribution to the automobile compulsory insurance problem is—that he must have been reading one of those circulars giving details of personal accident insurance; telling of a policy where so much is paid in case of death, so much for the loss of both arms or both legs, and so much for the loss of one leg or one arm. And Mr. DeCelles in expounding his theories at a public hearing in soft tones like a loud speaker harangued that his plan is the remedy to abolish the evils which now beset compulsory automobile liability insurance in Massachusetts. Truly, we have some competent men attempting to govern us today.

Yesterday afternoon we experienced one of those things that injects some amusement into life and relieves the cares of present day conditions. We had turned our car from Cabot onto Harvard street, Newtonville just as a young "lady" started to back an automobile out of a driveway. She observed us approaching and did what any sensible person would do and what the law states one must do under the circumstances. As she reached the sidewalk, she stopped backing out until we passed. But, to our surprise and amusement just as we passed, the young "lady" who appeared to be about 18 years of age, gave an exhibition which would cause one to think she was about 5 years old. She made a face at us and stuck her tongue out. It must have relieved her and it made us laugh, so the outcome was satisfactory to both.

right to demand examination by his or her own physician. As Senator Miles of Brockton, a physician, said in denouncing the bill—"It would give the man behind the bars the right to call his family doctor, and what has the doctor got to do, but decide for the man. Of all the vicious, crazy pieces of legislation I have seen, this probably takes the cake." And our competent, conscientious House of Representatives voted to pass this bill with only 5 members dissenting.

License Board Refuses Petition

Yesterday the Newton License Commission announced the refusal of a petition submitted by owners of 20 buildings in this city asking that the closing hour for music in their places be 11 p. m. instead of 9:30 p. m. The present restriction on music was established at the request of the Newton Beverage Dealers Association. By some peculiar logic the License Commission permits the only restaurant in the city which dispenses hard liquors to have music until 11 p. m.

Harvey Appointed City Engineer

Ernest H. Harvey of 18 Rowe st., Auburndale was appointed on Monday City Engineer of Newton by Mayor Weeks to succeed William P. Morse who has resigned because of age after 54 years service. Mr. Harvey was educated in the Waltham schools and entered the employ of the City Engineer's Department as a boy of 15. He has been in the service 45 years and for many years has been designing engineer.

The several residents of the street who have presented the petition state that, "We find it difficult to conform with traffic regulations of that street. As it is now, going east, parking is allowed only on the right-hand side of the street, and it would seem logical to allow parking on the left-hand side, especially at the curve opposite 119 Charlesbank rd., which is almost twice as wide as any other part of the street, or perhaps declare a parking zone at that point." ONE THING... AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Worth the Money

Much talk lately of and from people who would like to rewrite the Federal constitution. All due, of course, to the opinion of the United States Supreme Court on the illegality of the NRA. Reminds me of a leader of big business who explained why he paid his personal attorney so fabulously an annual retainer. "All the other lawyers I ever hired told me what I couldn't do," said he. "This lawyer tells me what I can do and he's worth every cent I pay him."

How's Your Appetite?

It required all self-control I could muster at the moment to listen in silence to an after-dinner humorist speak slightly of clambakes. It was evident he had never partaken of one or if so not one that would meet the approbation of a discriminating native of the New England seacoast.

Not only is the old fashioned clambake foremost among the most treasured of my gastronomic memories but it never fails to stir in my heart a hope that I may soon sit down at an unclothed board and eat baked clams and everything else put before me. There have been several clambakes in my life—all of them momentous occasions—and each was created by a virtuoso, though to call him that might have started something. I mean, however, that he was an artist at arranging the stones, building the fire, piling layers of corn, mackerel, clams and lobsters one above the other and smothering the whole with seaweed. It is a fascinating operation to watch because you know that the technical skill demanded is certain to produce one of the most delicious repasts eaten outdoors or in.

It would be unfair to continue to arouse the reader's hunger, providing we see eye to eye in this matter. For my own part I look forward to the coming Summer and would ask no better vacation spot than one located on the shore where fish weirs and lobster pots abound, clam flats are nearby and a flourishing corn field but a short walk up the road.

Bumped and Bewildered

The daily existence of a motorist is becoming more and more complicated. Due to the imposing legal structure, reared year by year by our law-makers since the advent of the automobile, it's getting to be a problem in Massachusetts to identify a truck, at least sufficiently to satisfy courts, insurance companies and other interested parties. How I happen to learn all this, although not an owner of a coupe, sedan, truck, bicycle or scooter, is really not important. On the best authority, as the newspapermen put it when they feel reasonably sure of their ground, I gathered some information that seems worth looking into, if I may offer a suggestion.

A friend of mine was driving his car across one of the bridges between Boston and Cambridge in the wake of a huge truck belonging to a chain store. Suddenly the truck driver decided to make a left turn and shot across the highway. This brought my friend against a trolley car. There was considerable force to the collision and although the truck was to blame the trolley did the damage. My friend tells me he worked fast and obtained the numbers on some of the truck's plates. He did not get them all for they included the registration of two States and also two of the new common carrier truck plates required by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as well as some other set of plates he couldn't describe. Now, he says, he's got to find out which number plate or plates to use in his report. Possibly by this time he has learned from the proper authorities what to do when a truck runs amuck. Worth looking into I'll say.

All in the Point of View

If one is sensitive about such things as a neighbor's unkempt back yard one is apt to suffer. The allusion does not refer to our own Garden City where we have few if any unattractive residential spots. Yet a Newton woman, with a Cape Cod summer place, tells me how a native of that section pulled a fast one on her as she was sauntering in the street with other boys and ran in front of the car.

Monday morning at 8:20 a car driven by Miss Josephine Mroczka of Highland avenue, Needham hit Stuart Evans, 7, of 993 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls at the corner of Oak and Chestnut streets, Upper Falls. The boy received cuts on the head and legs and was taken to the Newton Hospital by Miss Mroczka. She reported that he was playing in the street with other boys and ran in front of the car.

Monday morning at 8 a. m. a large truck driven by Max Sarkin of Fitchburg was crossing from one lane to another while proceeding easterly on the turnpike at Newton Centre near Oldfield road when it was hit by a smaller truck driven by Battista Sottili of 506 Boylston street, Newton Centre. Both trucks were badly damaged.

Fined $50 For Drunken Driving

Thomas C. Newton of Mason ter., Brookline, was fined $50 in the Newton court for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was arrested the preceding week on Commonwealth ave., at Chestnut Hill, by Patrolman Phillips.

"Business capital is good common sense, intelligence, industry, and SAVED-UP MONEY."

Dalhousie Lodge Celebrates 75th Anniversary

Wednesday, June 5, Dalhousie Lodge F. & A. M. fittingly observed their 75th Anniversary with a special meeting and banquet at Masonic Temple.

The color scheme of blue and silver was impressively carried out in great detail, even to blue flood lights and silver hangings, making a most unusual setting for the banquet hall where about two hundred gathered for a banquet at the completion of which the Worthy Master William F. Keesler fittingly welcomed the members and guests.

He then introduced R. W. Fred W. Blanchard as toastmaster, who introduced many noted Masons, followed by the Guest Speaker, former Chaplain of the Lodge from 1916 to 1919, who delivered a most witty and forceful address.

One of the happiest events of the Birthday party was the introduction of R. W. Albert L. Harwood, Senior Living Past Master of Dalhousie Lodge, who is beloved by all. Following the banquet all repaired to the Lodge room and the Worthy Master received about forty members of the Fifth District Masters' Association.

M. W. Claude L. Allen, Grand Master of Masons in Mass., was accompanied by a large suite of Grand Lodge officers and noted Masons.

A strong address was made by the Grand Master, who also called upon several of his suite for remarks. Delightful music was furnished in the Banquet Hall by the Fairchild Trio and in the Lodge Room by Franklin Field, baritone soloist, accompanied by Harry E. Rodgers, accompanist. The History of Dalhousie was read by W. Wallace C. Boyden, who was its author.

Next Wednesday, June 12th, a further celebration will be held when the Lodge committees will be entertained and addressed by R. W. Albert L. Harwood and R. W. Jos. E. Perry.

Bring Patient By Airplane

Edward Finnegan, 35, of St. Andrew, N. B., arrived at the Newton Hospital on Monday for treatment of a liver disorder. Because of his condition it was feared by his physician that a train trip would be dangerous for him, so he was brought from St. Andrew to the East Boston airport in an airplane piloted by Charles W. Sutherland. An ambulance took him from the airport to the hospital. He was accompanied on the flight by his sister, Edith Finnegan, and Betsy Ross nurses at the Newton Hospital.

Class Day Exercises at The Fessenden School

On Friday, May 31st, were held the Class Day exercises at the Fessenden School. At that time the Athletic awards were made. After a baseball game between the boys and the masters in the afternoon, there was a Tea Dance attended by the girls of the Dancing Class. A parents' meeting and parents' supper came before the Prize Speaking, which was held in the evening. Stuart Black and Fredson Bowers, of West Newton, recited pieces.

On Saturday morning at the Commencement Exercises, Dr. J. T. Stocking of Newton Centre delivered the Commencement address, first paying a beautiful tribute to Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, whom he knew when she and the school attended the Congregational church in Newtonville. Among the thirty-five boys receiving diplomas were Robert Cushman, Harry Noyes and Bruce Sears.

Rollin Smith of Newton Centre received the prize for leading his Form of which he was elected President for the coming year. Donald Sears received the prize for head of the Lower school.

Refreshments were served in the House and the school dining room to all the boys and guests after the Commencement exercises.

Bigelow Junior H. S.

Starting on the second half of the schedule Bigelow defeated Warren on its home grounds Monday, May 13, with a score of 9-8, and then lost to Day at Cabot park, 9-9. The first game was featured by heavy hitting on the part of the Bigelow team. In the following game Day played good baseball both defensively and offensively. Bigelow's weakness seemed to be at both ends of the battery, thus enabling Day to win decisively.

The Assembly on May 29 was in honor of Memorial Day. Stanley Smith acted as master of ceremonies. The guest speaker was ex-Mayor Childs, and another talk was given by Nell Cheney on the meaning and origin of Memorial Day. Virginia Weston and Richard Weber led the Flag Salute.

At the May 29th meeting of the stamp club the members enjoyed an interesting talk on the history of Stamps given by Mr. Canfield.

The Dramatic Clubs are engaged in making and obtaining stage properties and scenery as a project. These will be kept as a permanent supply that can be used whenever they are needed.

The Science laboratory boasts many important additions to its equipment. Some of the most important things include a two-gallon aquarium, a single beam balance, a recording barograph, an aluminum calorimeter, two insect boxes, a vacuum pressure pump, six specimen mounts, a vacuum gauge, and a set of metric weights. Besides this equipment several interesting living creatures have been brought in by pupils. These are turtles, guppies, gold fish, chameleons, a snake and a horn-toad.

Other interesting additions to school equipment are the cases for members of the orchestra, domestic science articles, and filing cases for the individual classrooms.

The display in the exhibition cabinet this week is entitled "Shells of the World," and contains many interesting and beautiful specimens of shells.

On Monday, June 3, the 9th grade class photograph was taken.

The Junior High School principals were entertained by the Bigelow at luncheon on Thursday, June 6. Mr. Raymond Blasidell of Reading, who is to be principal of the Weeks Junior High School next year, was also present.

Day Jr. High School

Three members of the Day faculty plan to attend the Biennial Celebration at Bridgewater State Teachers' College on June 8th. The alumni who will return to visit their alma mater are Messrs. Aldens Read, G. Edward Tanner, and Frank Tanner.

The men of the faculty enjoyed on June 5th the outing of the Men's Educational Club which was held at the Stow Country Club. The attractions were many—a variety of sports, a dinner planned to satisfy the male capacity, and a guest speaker, General Daniel Needham.

In connection with the study of occupations in their social studies class, Division II A entertained Division II B in the assembly hall on June 5th with a delightful little play called "The Job." The characters were Mr. Big Business, Anthony DelGuzzi; his secretary, Elizabeth Dorsey; Directors, Barbara Walker, Mary Biggle, Mary Cardarelli; Albert Olson, George Reynolds; Mr. Has-some-ideas, Larry Paglia; Mr. Uncle-rob, Robert Halfrey; Mr. Confidence, Frank Mason. The announcer was Mary Murphy.

Some 25 girls from all three classes represented the school at the Play Day, held at the Warren in which pupils from all the junior high schools in the city participated.

The A. A. Day welcomed again to its assembly two former pupils, Barbara Timble and William Daniels, who are now students at the Newton High School. They told something about high school life, and from their own experience offered suggestions to those who will enter there in the fall.

Specialty dances by Jean Lawrence, Claire Silva, Edna Gunn and Louise Shabell were a feature of the program.

Weeks Jr. High

The official baseball season came to a close when the F. A. Day team defeated the Weeks Varsity 6 to 2. The Junior Varsity, however, upheld the glory of the school by winning its game 10 to 7. These games brought about ties for first place in each league between the Day and Weeks Schools. A post-season game with the faculty will finish the Varsity schedule.

Highlights at Swampscott

SOCIAL INTERESTS

Monday, May 20th, known as Pre-convention Day, was outstanding especially for the intimate glimpses of character and for the intimate talks among the clubwomen who gathered early and had opportunity to come into close touch with leaders in the club world. That afternoon they heard the wise and entertaining words of the president of the General Federation, Grace Morrison Poole, as has already been related.

Dinner at 6 o'clock, and a musical program at 8 in the Ball Room, gave a festive spirit.

Delightfully informal was the reception following the dinner, in the foyer of the hotel. Colorful frocks worn by the officers and visiting clubwomen added to the picturesqueness of the scene.

In line with Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, State President, and Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, General Federation President, were Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, of Cliffmont, General Federation director; Mrs. Carl L. Schrader, a past president of the State Federation, and chairman of the Detroit Convention; Mrs. Frederick Glazier Smith, also a past president of the State Federation, and chairman of the New England Conference; Mrs. Carl W. Illig, Jr., chairman of Public Health, General Federation; Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, chairman of Education, General Federation; the State vice-presidents, Mrs. John H. Kimball Danvers; Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, Winchester; Mrs. David A. Wescott, Dorchester, and Mrs. Herbert F. French, Braintree; recording secretary, Mrs. W. Scott Austin, Quincy; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Philip H. Tirrell, Reading; clerk, Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, Arlington; and treasurer, Mrs. William J. McDonald, Boston.

The entertainment on Tuesday evening was a delightful musical program. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian, State chairman of Music, a group of artists was presented. They were Madame Marie Sundelin, Soprano, and the Embassy club; Eugene Conley and Rodney May, Tenors; John Metcalf, Baritone; John Percival, Bass, and Reginald Boardman, Pianist.

A topic of conversation on Monday showed aroused interest was the work of the American Home Committee of the Swampscott Woman's Club in renovating an old house and making it "the last word in home decoration." In consequence, Tuesday morning early—and with the session of the Annual Meeting opening at 10 o'clock promptly, it was early, indeed, when one considered breakfast in the thronged dining-room to be "won"—many clubwomen hied forth, eagerly anxious to see the "Bride's Home" in Orient court, close by the New Ocean House.

Comparison of the condition of this old house before this energetic committee assailed it, and its beauty and charm afterwards, shown from photographs of its previous appearance, was almost bewildering. Delighted "ohs" and "ahs" gave proof that the visiting women appreciated the artistic choice in color schemes, the appeal of the draperies, window curtains, upholstering, etc., which gave evidence of the hours spent in this work which made a home that satisfied the feminine desire. The little house, which was of Cape Cod type, became responsible for many a vision of clubwomen who will return home to hunt up a tumble-down little house, in a quiet spot, and make it into a similar haven.

RESOLUTIONS

Tuesday, the 21st of May, was a record day for the State Federation. In the bunting-trimmed Convention Hall, the opening session was called to order by Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, the president, at 10 o'clock. Consideration of Resolutions proved most interesting. With only 18 dissenting votes the delegates passed a Resolution endorsing the principle of Federal legislation for the dissemination of scientifically regulated birth control information, by a vote of 440 to 18.

Every officer of the State Federation in attendance voted for it, for there was no opposition on the crowded platform when the vote was counted. The 18 who objected were roundly applauded for their courage in taking their stand against such overwhelming odds.

The opinion of the clubwomen that something must be done, and soon, to stop the increase of population, which is admittedly at its height in the families where want, woe, and ignorance are making existence wretched, so making for increase in crime, and that births are not occurring in any such numbers among the families of financial or educational ability to raise children to the best advantage, is responsible for this action. As Mrs. Poole pointed out in one of her addresses, "One of the dangers that is a product of the depression is bringing into the world many children whose handicaps are tragically apparent. Statistics show that the largest proportion of births in the last few years are in the homes of families on Welfare Relief. There can be only one answer to that; other things being equal, we are apparently going to be faced in a few years with a generation that will need a great deal of outside help in order to combat fitly the complexities of life. Also, in endorsing the Resolution on birth control the Massachusetts Federation is following the lead of several other States. The hope of the measure, and the intention in its support, as outlined by Mrs. Schuyler W. Van Ness, chairman of American Home, is that married people may have the opportunity to obtain birth control information legally from reputable sources, particularly in cases where the wife is physically incapable or the husband is not able to provide for a large family."

"You cannot run a home like a business. A business must succeed financially or it 'folds up,' but wives are never fired for inefficiency or failure to install modern machinery.

"A clever housewife can increase the family income 50 percent by doing more gardening, canning, sewing, renovating, laundry work, and shampooing at home.

"I have known poverty on a cotton farm in Alabama, but nevertheless high standards of living are not expressed entirely in Oriental rugs or limousines."

"Are You Intelligent?" This starting query was the topic of the address on Tuesday afternoon by Dr. Howard W. Haggard, author, lecturer, and associate Professor of Applied Physiology at Yale, who told the clubwomen that 60 per cent of the people who go to physicians complaining of ills have nothing the matter with them physically.

"The remedy for this 60 per cent who have no real physical ills is psychiatry," said Dr. Haggard.

"The average physician is only interested in disease, but we are going to train them to be interested in health. Doctors in the future will be obliged to consider the mental side as much if not more than the physical."

"Anything will cure this 60 per cent. That is why down through the ages we have had so many superstitions in regard to cures, so many fallacies, toe-twisters, and diet fads."

"Physical examinations annually, or every so often, are a good thing, because the doctor can become acquainted with you. When you are really sick, he comes to you knowing your background and can be of more assistance. If he does not know you in sickness, he cannot know you in sickness," said Dr. Haggard.

"The drawback to paying the doctor to keep people well is that they would be consulting him constantly on everything under the sun. Insurance must eventually come in to spread the cost of sickness and the general practitioner must come back to the city. The specialist is wholly undesirable except as a patient is handed on by his own doctor, to one with specified knowledge for a special cause."

He declared all diet fads to be pernicious. The newest one, that of drinking the juices squeezed from beets, spinach, and other vegetables, he catalogued as the most asinine of all, because of the great benefits derived from vegetables in bulk.

"Intelligence alone is not enough to serve as a guide in avoiding the fallacies that are so extensively exploited today," he said, and also that "knowledge is needed as well as intelligence."

Dr. Haggard used the fad of Perkinson to illustrate a typical medical fallacy, and the Bickerstaff papers of Jonathan Swift for an example of satire, as a weapon in fighting the fallacies. He concluded with brief description of a number of typical and widely-exploited medical fads.

Quite tame in comparison as to interest manifested in these two Resolutions was the interest in the Resolution concerning the World Court. On Wednesday, the club delegates reiterated their endorsement of the adherence of the United States to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

ADDRESSES

Three addresses on Tuesday presented various topics to the listening clubwomen. A fourth, which is entitled to this descriptive word, was that of the State president, in her "report." Mrs. Walker pointing out "just what the State clubwomen have been doing during the year in worthwhile activities. The sum of $103,488 has been distributed through various agencies. Hospitals received $15,766; Scholarships, $30,994; Public Welfare, $423,665; local Charities, $17,096; Foreign Relief, $302; Red Cross, $1,354; Disabled Veterans, $2306; Public Health, $10,509, and miscellaneous, $10,920.

Not only are these sums amazing, considering the "depression," but it must be taken into account, also, that these do not include many sums given by clubs who have failed to reply to the questionnaire, so that even more has been contributed to these avenues, that assuredly should rise up in gratitude and declare the women's clubs blessed!

The address of the morning was given by Miss Mary Sue Wigley, of Dawson, Alabama, lecturer on Economic Problems of the Family. Her winning southern drawl, and loss of final "g's," immediately endeared her to her audience, and her frank statement of the poverty of her childhood days in the Alabama mountains, with the struggle of her people for the support of the family, made the heart warm to the character that must have been hers, doubtless inherited from a good family, which has brought her to prominence countrywide in the lecture field.

What a wealth of understanding of character she showed when she said of those who spend lavishly and without wisdom for the sake of "making a splash," "Some people keep the family poor by trying to advertise their prosperity." Her subject "Forward Planning" naturally centered about a budget, and of this absolute household necessity she said: "A young person needs to keep accounts and budget them on paper. None of us get so wise that we can't benefit by budgeting our accounts."

And then she added quaintly, showing, as is often the case, that he gives excellent advice does not follow it: "But I can't ever balance a budget. I'm a woman who calls it a 'L. O. K.' the 'Lord Only Knows.'" And she also added:

"You cannot run a home like a business. A business must succeed financially or it 'folds up,' but wives are never fired for inefficiency or failure to install modern machinery.

"A clever housewife can increase the family income 50 percent by doing more gardening, canning, sewing, renovating, laundry work, and shampooing at home.

Tuesday evening was the gala evening of the Convention. Instead of having a "Governor's Night," as has been the case during the past few years, for financial reasons, chiefly, it became necessary to make the program simpler, and less ostentatious. Moreover, with Mrs. Poole present, and about to retire from the office of president of the General Federation, after three years of service in this high office, it seemed pre-eminently fitting that "Gala Night" should be in tribute and ovation to a "daughter of Massassuetus," who has attained the highest honors in the club world.

Dinner in the Main Dining Room, and the Junior Banquet, attended by about 300 enthusiastic Juniors, in the Colonial Room, both at 6 o'clock, marked the colorful forerunner of the "Processional" that formed later in the long corridors of the hotel. Presidents of clubs, in twos, according to their districts, including the youthful Junior presidents, led by the District director, bearing aloft a banner with the number of her district, formed in a long line, preparatory to the march to Convention Hall. Beautiful evening gowns, lovely flowers, the gifts of admiring friends, made the parade spectacular. To the stirring strains of the Victory March, written by Mrs. Moses Gulesian, in honor of Grace Morrison Poole, the Processional circled the Hall and came to the section reserved for them. Mrs. John A. Jennings led as Marshal; and Mrs. Charles Carter Willson, of Auburndale, chairman of Junior membership during the past year; and Miss Martha Wight, of Newton Centre, a Junior who won the Traveling Scholarship not long ago, as Standard Bearers, carried the State and National Flags.

The tribute to Mrs. Poole, the speaker of the evening, was heartwarming, heart-stirring. And her address on "Stock-taking Time in the General Federation" was equally noteworthy. Her utterances will be remembered long.

The account of this and of other events of the Annual Meeting will be continued next week.

Anniversary
Observance at Newton Church

Immanuel Baptist Church Has Interesting Affair

Last Saturday and Sunday hundreds of former members turned their thoughts to the old church as it celebrated its seventy-fifth anniversary. Of the twelve earliest members now living, the following seven were present: Mrs. Edward N. Solls, Miss Flora Holmes, Mrs. George H. Hastings of Newtonville, Mrs. H. F. Bent of Watertown, Mrs. Sarah Hyde Ivy of Mardon, Connecticut, Miss Augusta Damrell and Mr. F. H. Tucker.

Seventeen were present who attended the church when it was at the corner of Washington and Hovey streets prior to 1886.

The Historical Exhibit was open Saturday afternoon and Sunday, Mrs. S. Wallace Moore who was in charge was able to show many interesting photographs of early members as well as early photographs of present members. In this collection was Horatio N. Hyde, one of the organizers, William E. Porter, Reverend Thomas S. Samson, Reverend John Tucker, Jr., Geo. S. Harwood, Stephen Moore, John Lothrop, George C. Travis, and George S. Hill.

A picture of peculiar interest was the Hyde house which our older readers will remember as standing on Centre street in Nonantum square with a garden extending to Pearl street. It was here that a few Baptists met and decided to have a Sunday School which was the nucleus of the church organized later. Other objects of interest were the first Bible used by the church, a gift of the Watertown Baptist Church; pulpit chairs and collection baskets with long handles from the Hovey Street Building; the communion set presented in 1885 by George S. Harwood and George H. Quincy.

The organ recital Saturday afternoon by Harris S. Shaw, A. G. O., was much appreciated. After the dinner at which over two hundred were seated, Mr. F. W. Chase introduced Doctor Hugh A. Heath, Doctor Ray A. Eusden, and Honorable E. O. Childs, who brought greetings from the Baptist Convention, the churches of Newton, and friends of the church in Newton.

Capture Youths In Newton Store

An alleged attempted burglary in a chain store at Newton Corner resulted in the arrest of three youths shortly after midnight on Tuesday morning. Robert Jamieson, employed in the Rollins Candy Shop at 338 Centre street observed two men on the roof of the building at 242 Washington street. Jamieson told Arthur Pierce of Rustic street, one of the operators at fire alarm headquarters and a member of the Newton Fire Department. The two went to the rear of the building on Washington street and seized James Kinchla, 22, of 92 Hawthorn street, who was standing there. Sergeant Moran and Patrolman Halloran then arrived on the scene and Halloran accompanied by Jamieson climbed a ladder which was standing at the rear of the store, occupied by a First National Stores market. Halloran found the skylight had been lifted off and a rope was dangling into the store. He started to descend on the rope, but it broke. He was saved from injury by landing on a pile of flour bags. Halloran started to search the store and hiding in a coal bin in the basement he found John Regan, 17, of 594 Washington street, Newton and John Matthews, 18, of 70 Crafts street, Newtonville. In their possession was found $2.79 in cash. A number of cartons of cigarettes were found piled on the floor of the store. The three were placed under arrest and arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday morning charged with breaking and entering and larceny. Their cases were continued to June 13.

In the Newton court on Thursday Regan and Matthews pleaded guilty and Kinchla pleaded not guilty, stating that he was not involved in the burglary. All three were bound over to the Grand Jury in $500 bonds.

Newton Girl Awarded Regis Scholarship

The St. Regis College Guild scholarship for a four year course at that institution was awarded this week to Miss Mary Lind, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Lind of 90 Waban Park, Newton. Miss Lind is an honor pupil at Our Lady's High School where she has been prominent in school activities. The scholarship she has won was awarded after a competitive examination.

Miss Lind has been president of Our Lady High debating team which was undefeated this year and which was awarded the Cardinal O'Connell trophy. A few days ago she was awarded first prize in the American Legion Essay contest which was open to all schools in the city. The title of her prize winning essay which also earned her the second prize in the State-wide contest, was "How Can American Youth Co-operate with the American Legion and Fidac to Remove the Profit Making Motive from War as an Aid to World Peace?" Another recent award to Miss Lind was that of second prize in the Diocesan Oratorical Contest.

The census according to wards and precincts is as follows—

Slight Increase Of Population Of Newton

The population of Newton has had a slight increase in the past five years, according to the census just completed under the direction of City Clerk Grant. The count, taken in connection with the State Decennial Census, shows the population to be 66,319, the females outnumbering the males 36,335 to 29,934. The population in 1930 as shown by the United States Census, was 65,276. The State Census in 1925 gave the population of the city as 53,003.

Work on the present census started in January when cards were distributed by boys to householders throughout the city. Many claimed they did not receive cards when members of the Newton Police Department made visits to houses from which no returns had been received. A number of white collar workers under E. R. A. auspices have been engaged in compiling the census.

The census according to wards and precincts is as follows—

Sacred Heart School Awards 17 Diplomas

On Sunday evening, June ninth, His Excellency Most Reverend Francis J. Spellman, D.D., LL.D., presided at the Graduation Exercises of the Sacred Heart High School, Newton Centre.

Robert DeBourke and Elizabeth Spellman were the recipients of the Ten Dollar Awards for General Excellence during the High School Course. A beautiful fountain pen was presented to Francis Simpkins who had the distinction of having a perfect attendance record for five successive years.

His Excellency delivered an address to the graduates, after which Pontifical Benediction was given, the celebrant being the Most Reverend Francis J. Spellman, D.D., LL.D., assisted by Reverend J. A. Coughlin, Reverend Waldo Hasenpus, Reverend David Waters, Reverend Bernard J. Winn, Reverend John E. Bowen, and Reverend John P. Reynolds.

Each graduate was presented with a copy of "In the Footsteps of the Master," one of the early translations of Bishop Spellman.

Diplomas were awarded to the following graduates of the Sacred Heart High School:

Graduation at High School of Our Lady

The Class of 1935 of the High School of Our Lady opened Commencement Exercises at a Mass in the Convent Chapel on Thursday morning followed by a Communion Breakfast in the gymnasium of the High School. In the evening Class Night was observed in the Auditorium by a banquet at which the Class Historian was Mary Lind the winner of the Regis College Guild Scholarship and the Class Prophet, Elizabeth Leavitt. Winifred Prendergast, read the Class Will and Paul Kennedy presided as Toastmaster. The Banquet was followed by dancing. Diplomas will be awarded at a Solemn High Mass on Sunday, June 16th, at 10 o'clock.

Members of the graduating class have also had a meeting with a group of doctors from the city at dinner to which all the doctors were invited, and the Community Chest and the work of its Member-Agencies under the Chest were also explained in detail to the doctors. Plans for the coming campaign as well as for the Chest set-up were explained in detail to the men and women present. There were a great many questions of a very constructive and helpful nature asked by the doctors.

As a result of this meeting the group voted to request Dr. Louis Jack, President of the Newton Medical Society to appoint a committee of doctors to confer with the Community Chest to determine what doctors might do in the city.

Dr. Jack appointed the following committee: Dr. DeWitt G. Wilcox, Chairman; Drs. E. A. Andrews, Robert D. Curtis, C. A. Thompson, Cecil Clark, William F. Cotting, Joseph B. Ferrone, Egon Kattwinkel, and Samuel A. Levine.

Committees of both of these organizations will meet during the coming summer to determine in what way they may be of help to the city by cooperating with the Community Chest.

The Community Chest also plans to confer with the dentists of the city to present the case of the Chest and Member-Agencies to them and ask their support as well.

Clarke Chase Wins Meserve Award and Boy's Senior Cup

The threatening weather of Saturday night caused a postponement of the graduation exercises of Newton High School to Sunday night and the rain on Sunday night forced the transfer of the exercises from Dickinson Stadium to the high school auditorium. The hall was crowded with the 664 seniors who graduated, their relatives and friends, and those who participated in the program. It was the first time in five years that inclement weather had necessitated holding the exercises indoors, and as a result, the limited capacity of the auditorium prevented even the teachers of the school from being able to attend. The auditorium seats 1123. Walter R. Amesbury, chairman of the School Committee, presented diplomas to 358 girls and 306 boys.

Following the invocation by Rev. John A. Sheridan, the class gift was announced by Caleb Roehrig. The gift, a portable electric organ, which can be used at either indoor or outdoor concerts, was purchased through a fund which was completed by the Class of 1935 and members of the faculty.

The Meserve Fund Scholarship, one of the most sought honors, was awarded to Clarke T. Case of Auburndale. This scholarship was established in 1923 in memory of Charles D. Meserve, for many years a teacher at the school. The award was made by Frank F. Davidson of the Class of 1916. The other scholarship awards were announced and presented by Paul E. Ellicker, principal of the school. The scholarships and their winners were

Share your NEWS
and Double

Has baby cut a tooth? Has daughter graduated with honors? Has Junior been elected captain of his team? That's news!

Uncles and aunts, grandparents, even family friends, who live too far away to share such joys in person, still want to hear about them.

Pick up your telephone and tell them. In the telling, we'll wager that you'll find your own pleasure doubled.

In such cases, a telephone call may be valueless from the dollars-and-cents angle, yet priceless for the lift it gives the spirit.

Night Rates Now Begin at 7 P. M.

To enable greater social use of the telephone is one reason for advancing the night rate period for toll calls to 7 o'clock (it formerly began at 8:30).

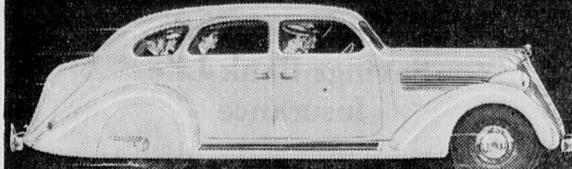

Night Rates apply only to station-to-station calls—that is, calls by number, or for "anyone". If you do not know the number, call "Information."

To show the low cost of toll calls, during the night rate period, the following typical rates are cited for a 3-minute station-to-station call after 7 P. M.

Auto Falls Into River at Nonantum

Garfield Rodenhsier, 40, of 83 Dale st., Waltham, had a miraculous escape from death Sunday afternoon at 5:45 when the automobile he was driving skidded on the bridge over the Charles River between Nonantum and Bemis, crashed through the iron pipe fence, turned upside down, and landed in the stream twelve feet below. Rodenhsier, trapped in the crushed body of the coupe, managed to squirm free after a few minutes struggle. Fortunately, the water in the river, about 60 feet below the dam, was quite shallow. Louis Hough of Monmouth court, Brookline, a witness to the accident, found a ladder nearby, shoved it down from the bridge to Rodenhsier, and the latter climbed up, apparently not injured except for some cuts. He was taken to the Waltham Hospital for treatment.

Cranshaw was winner of the Hurlbut prize, given annually for the highest grade in American history for the year. Perry achieved honorable mention in the H. Hooper Lawrence Jr. Memorial prize which annually is given to the boy most "distinguished for those qualities which contribute to the happiness of other people, a cheerful disposition, an unselfish nature, and a kind heart." Perry received 15 votes to the 24 of the winner, Robert S. Gorham of Augusta, Me. Endicott Smith won second in the Marcy French prize for most improvement in French during the year; honorable mention in the Hurlbut history prize; and honorable mention in the graduates' scholarship-athletics award.

Other Newton boys who won awards were: Raymond A. Remick, West Newton, first prize for the independent reading of good books; Robert F. Jordan, West Newton, first prize in written English; William E. Philibrook, West Newton, and Richard E. Hale, Waban, honorable mention in written English; Robert F. Jordan, West Newton, second prize of silver medal in graduates' scholarship-athletics award; Remick also won honorable mention in written English.

Remick's reading totaled 153 books including 127 novels, 4 biographies, 7 travel and exploration, 10 plays, 4 volumes of poetry, and one essay. In the award of prizes three factors are considered: number of books read entirely outside the classroom, number of worthwhile books read, and retentive ability as evinced in private conferences.

BIENNIAL SESSIONS OF THE LEGISLATURE

There is more than the usual interest this year in the question of biennial sessions of the legislature. There are many conflicting views regarding such a procedure and in many ways the issue has been fogged so that one who is not thoroughly acquainted with the situation does not appreciate its full significance. Considerable discussion has been devoted to the economy in government which would result. The amount saved has been variously estimated and the variations indicate that there is much uncertainty about any saving at all. Under the biennial system of government proponents contend that the cost of one year's session would be saved except for special sessions which might be called. It is our experience that a large majority of the legislature would immediately increase the salary and traveling expense items of its members, thereby offsetting the greater part of the estimated savings. In the past fifteen years the salaries of the legislators have been increased twice despite disapproval of the governor in office at the time and despite general disapproval of the public. Experience has also taught us that special sessions are expensive and if Massachusetts should follow many other states such special sessions might frequently be called. The textile situation, the insurance problems, and many other important measures might well need immediate attention. It has also been proven that under annual sessions the cost of government in Massachusetts has increased much more slowly than in states under biennial sessions. In fairness we admit that there is ground for a divergence of opinion as to whether or not an annual session has been directly responsible for this slower increase. Under biennial sessions, however, additional bureaus might well be necessary with further centralization of governing power and delegation of legislative powers the inevitable end. We have never believed in too great a centralized control nor the delegation of governing powers to a bureau which might well become autocratic. Under existing conditions such delegation of power might well be a dangerous and foolish procedure. Under theoretic principles we could conceive of a well ordered government but unfortunately theoretical plans are frequently far from practical. Another advantage claimed for biennial sessions is that it would reduce the number of bills presented to the legislature by one-quarter or more. The question then arises is it desirable to impose a system which is believed to be impractical upon the people in order to save consideration of some measure. The bills before the legislature which are presented again after adverse action number approximately one-fourth or less the total of those presented in two years. Many of them have some merit and later become adopted when changes are made in the measures or changes in the times make them desirable. Those that are of no merit may cause some time to be wasted upon them but the time involved is immaterial in the end.

One of the chief arguments used by the proponents of the biennial system is that the people should be given the opportunity to express an opinion on the subject. It is commonly known that referendums on the ballot are seldom expressed in such language that the average voter may readily understand the question. Furthermore it is widely believed that the voters frequently express themselves in favor of a proposal in order to bring about a change. Dissatisfied with things as they are any proposed change will be supported. The vote as a whole is largely emotional and not, we regret, from a practical, common sense angle. We thoroughly believe that after a thorough discussion of the question of biennial sessions that the voters of Newton would reject it. However, the members of the legislature have, in this instance, not only the responsibility of their constituents but they have a responsibility to the people of the state to protect the commonwealth from a system which would prove more expensive, less representative, and less desirable than the present system with all its flaws and blemishes.

THE HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION

The largest class in the history of the Newton High School has received its diplomas. Along with congratulations to the individual members of the class goes the every wish that they will meet success wherever they may go. However, there is a feeling of sadness in the hearts of many of the parents and friends of the members of the class. For the first time in five years weather conditions made it impossible to hold the graduation ceremonies out-of-doors and accommodate all those who wished to witness the exercises. Compelled to hold the affair in the high school auditorium the school committee was faced with a physically impossible situation. No auditorium in the city is large enough to accommodate a large graduating class and both parents and friends of those participating as well as alumnae and other interested people. Thus it happened that at least one parent of many of the graduates was unable to witness a ceremony which meant a great deal to that parent. It was an unfortunate situation which commands sympathy for those disappointed parents. It becomes a situation which in the future the school committee will have to recognize. The out-door ceremony at the school athletic field is an impressive and inspiring affair. It cannot be duplicated in any auditorium. We should dislike to see it given up and the graduation exercises transferred to an auditorium outside of the city and yet such a solution might well be considered. The school committee, we know, was faced with a difficult situation which it handled as efficiently as possible. The problem of future graduations is one which will require careful consideration.

PATRIOTISM BY LEGISLATION

The legislature this week approved a bill requiring teachers in public and private schools to take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States before they can qualify for a teaching position. The intent of the bill, to promote patriotism and discourage communistic and un-American teachings, is a desirable end. In our opinion the legislation will never make a patriot out of a teacher who is not a patriot at heart. Patriotism is not achieved by legislation any more than prohibition was enforceable by the Volstead act. Considerable fuss and furore was made over the measure which might well have been spent over more practical things.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edward H. Powers

The accident at the bridge over the Charles River at Bemis last Sunday when an automobile skidded through the flimsy pipe fence, dropped into the river and pinned the driver underneath, again calls attention to the need of proper protection at this and other bridges in this city. Stout, steel cables should be placed at either side of this bridge. And similar cables should be placed at the bridge over the B. & A. tracks at St. James st., Newton. Also, the fence along the railroad tracks between Newtonville and West Newton has tumbled down for a considerable distance and ought to be replaced by a wire fence before some small child wanders onto the tracks and gets killed.

The flashing beacon at the intersection of Charles River rd. and Charles River Parkway, between Newton and Fenway, flashes so feebly that it is difficult to see it. The other night an automobile was wrecked when it ran onto the curb.

Some time ago parking restrictions were placed on Chapel st. between Watertown and California sts. This was the result of employees of factories nearby using the street for all-day parking purposes and impeding traffic. We have been informed that as a result many automobiles are parked not only on California st., but also on Dalby st. which runs parallel to Chapel st. Dalby st. is quite narrow, thickly settled and many small children live on it. As a result of the congestion there from its use as a parking space by the factory employees, it is difficult for cars to get through the street and the lives of the children living on it are endangered. Parking restrictions should also be placed on Dalby st.

The depression isn't over, the weather this Spring has been cold and damp, but when have you seen the foliage greener or the shrubs and flowers more beautiful? The rhododendrons have been gorgeous the past few weeks, the peonies are now blooming in brilliant splendor. Nature certainly does its part to make this world attractive. The biggest obstacle to happiness is man with his selfishness and stupidness.

Funny, isn't it, how some politicians who pose as champions of the common people and denounce plutocracy and aristocracy, like to put on the dog and give grandiose exhibitions whenever the opportunity arises.

The statement from Alderman Sydney Holden that he will be a candidate for Mayor at the coming city election ends the rumors spread by supposed political wisecracks to the effect that Mr. Holden intended to throw his support to one of the other candidates in return for future political reciprocity. The Newton Centre alderman will be a strong factor in the coming contest. He is conversant with Newton and city affairs, has influential supporters and can be depended on to make a determined campaign.

The desecration of the tomb of General Hull at the old cemetery on Centre street again emphasizes the need of surrounding this resting place of the founders of Newton with a fence. The neighborhood around the cemetery has become developed for residential purposes in the past few years and this colonial landmark should be better protected from intrusion.

Rotarians Hear Address on Diesels

By L. D. G. Bentley

The Newton Rotary Club was addressed at its regular meeting held at the Brae Burn Monday by Myron C. Huckle, founder and head of the United States Diesel Engineering School, 1105 Commonwealth ave., Boston. Mr. Huckle outlined the tremendous growth of this relatively new industry which in 1934 installed approximately 750,000 HP and is expected in 1935 to exceed 1,000,000 HP. Diesel engines burn low grade fuel and fire by compression rather than by electric spark. They were developed in Germany more than a quarter of a century ago and are used extensively abroad. In this country they have been common in marine use for years and more recently in municipal power plants, trucks, tractors and excavating machinery. Many manufacturers are on the point of bringing out automobile Diesel engines. The stream line trains so much in the public eye at the moment are Diesel powered.

With the quick growth of the Diesel industry has come a demand for trained production, operation and maintenance men which cannot be filled by technical departments of high schools and colleges. The United States Diesel Engineering School was established in 1933 and has risen to a dominant place in the East through its laboratory of more than 15 Diesel engines of various types and sizes and its instruction staff of 14 specialists in all phases of an industry. There are now about 150 students enrolled in the day and evening courses, including several from Wellesley, Needham, Newton and neighboring towns.

Inspector Goode Has Good Memory

Inspector Richard Goode of the Newton police long ago won a reputation for having a very retentive memory. Last Friday he gave further evidence of this fact when he arrested John Copola as the latter was released from the Dedham jail after serving a year's sentence for burglary. Goode identified Copola a year ago when the latter was arrested in Brookline. Copola was arrested by Newton police nine years ago for stealing carpenter's tools. He was then released on bail and defaulted when his case came before the Superior court. Copola was taken to the East Cambridge jail to await trial.

Arrested After Six Months

Fred DeRose, 21, of 80 Hawthorne st., Nonantum, was arrested on Saturday by Special Officer Feeley at Newton Corner when the policeman spotted him walking on Washington st. There had been a warrant for DeRose's arrest since last December on the charge of stealing metal from the junk yards of William Shriberg and Jacob Kligman at Nonantum. He was tried in the Newton court on Monday and given a suspended jail sentence on the agreement that he make restitution of $55 to Kligman and Shriberg.

It is not surprising to me, with so many things being improved upon, that the system of paying real estate tax bills has come under the spell. I am not sure whether you would call the arrangement now in effect a case of stream-lining, or air-conditioning or a little of each.

The fact remains that when you get your tax bill (maybe it came in today's mail as the law has fixed a date limit) you will find that for the first time in history you are expected to pay half at a time. The first half is due July 1 and the second Oct. 1. No interest charged if paid before Nov. 1.

At the outset it looks as if a thoughtful State Government had figured out that it would be easier for us over-burdened home owners if we paid half at a time. But don't get any false notion. The thing was drawn up so that assessing would begin in January instead of April, bills sent out in June instead of October and—here's the catch—cities and towns would get the taxes collected earlier, or part of the total at least, and not be forced to borrow money in anticipation of such revenue. Pretty good business for the city and the taxpayer, too. Well, here's hoping your bill is not so large as to make trouble for you.

First Class in History

Seems that throughout the preceding centuries they must have picked June for some of the biggest events recorded. Sticking closely to United States history, although there's plenty of notable occasions in the other countries, we find that in our own, our native land a lot happened in June.

For instance, this is June 14 and therefore "Flag Day" based on a memorable event. Next Monday, June 17, the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, June 17, 1775, William Penn's treaty with the Indians, June 24, 1747, Cabot sailed from England to discover America for himself, June 25, 1876, the famous Custer massacre, June 26, 1917, the first American troops landed in France, and June 30, 1921, President Harding signed the resolution declaring peace with Germany.

Between Ourselves

Due to the custom of observing a vacation season (you know yourself there comes a time every year when you want to lay off for a while) I am suspending for the Summer the pleasure of preparing this column. It will seem odd and somewhat different to write for you whatever may happen to pop into my head. However, the typewriter is to remain undisturbed for a number of weeks. Of course, if something strikes me and I can't resist telling you I might call you up. But then, so many of you will be away from Newton and several far distant from a telephone. No, on the whole I think the best way is not to attempt to get in touch with each other except through the column. If you should have any better idea you can let me know. Now I must beat it. Cheorio!

MATERIALS WANTED

No citizen of Newton needs to be told that our playgrounds rank among the finest in the country but many of us may not know that our children have the reputation for making excellent handicraft from discarded materials.

Every year a plea is put in the local papers asking housewives to save odds and ends gathered during the year, empty spools, stockings, ribbons, tape, pieces of silk, or cloth, paper dolls, Xmas cards, envelope linings, embroidery materials, wool or articles suitable for prizes. The answer to this plea is always generous and the materials aid in keeping five hundred young children busy and happy during the summer season.

There's no getting away from it, we are approaching the longest day of the year. One week from today, Friday, June 21, you must wake with a firm resolve to make the best of everything that happens, especially if it isn't customary with you to take such a view of life. The longest day of the year means that you'll get the most daylight for your money and along on the early evening you'll wonder if the day is ever going to end and why children never get sleepy as long as there's light enough for outdoor games.

You'll probably sit down, plenty tired, and think of all the things you planned to do in the garden but couldn't find opportunity for, of the grass you intended to cut and how you expected to get a chance to listen to the broadcast of the Harvard-Yale boat race and would have if a gabby caller hadn't dropped in. Yes, there'll be a lot of matters unattended to and if it doesn't turn out to be the shortest longest-day-of-the-year in our recollection you'll just be different from other folks, that's all.

To The Ladies

"It would be a chivalrous thing to do if you included ladies in your proposed bicycle races on the sidewalks of Newton," writes an anonymous correspondent. "I, myself, would then be eligible, although unable to participate because my bicycling days have long since passed. Girls and women occasionally ride and even if relatively few possess 'wheels' as we used to call them, their fathers or brothers or husbands or sweethearts could see they were provided.

"In the good old days there were tandem bicycles, immortalized, if you remember, in the song about the 'bicycle built for two.' The tandems were certainly picturesque and frequently romantic. I rode on one myself. Today, no doubt, they would be called old-fashioned. Nevertheless, I could tell the girls of today, providing they would listen to an old woman what fun we had.

"Part of my husband's courtship of me included tandem bicycling and as I look back I believe that was one reason our marriage turned out a success. If two people can hit it off on a bicycle built for two (I know nothing of these modern sidecars) it seems quite evident they are well suited to each other temperamentally. However, I did not intend that this communication should be personal, so I will close by urging you to think of ladies on bicycles when you make plans for a wheelman's sidewalk meet in Newton."

Taking All in All

It is not surprising to me, with so many things being improved upon, that the system of paying real estate tax bills has come under the spell. I am not sure whether you would call the arrangement now in effect a case of stream-lining, or air-conditioning or a little of each.

HAVE you ever looked at yourself from a money angle? Some folks measure their fellow men by what they have accumulated in dollars and cents.

Perhaps this isn't fair. But looking at yourself as others do, it is comforting to know that you are getting ahead financially, too. Spending less than you receive! Saving systematically! Try it!

"The growth of lobbying and the art of propaganda have assumed such proportions in the world that unless something is done to protect the legislators who honestly want to serve the best interests of the people at large, we shall soon find ourselves governed by those who can make the largest noise and voice the loudest threats."

So spoke Mrs. Poole, in her address of Tuesday evening, May 21st, before about 2,500 clubwomen assembled in Convention Hall, for the Annual Meeting of the State Federation at Swampscott. Certainly she was right when she declared that this condition of affairs would amaze her hearers. She gave a telling example of the force of public opinion in the defeat of our adherence to the World Court as the cause for her statement. She urged the women to face this situation and declared: "I have come to the conclusion that the women of this country must go into lobbying and propaganda work to offset that which the men are doing in these fields."

What she took as a sign of the new independence of women in their political thought, was evident in her statement:

"There is a real surge among women in the country over not to enter the partisan-political field, but to stand for what they know to be right. And there is a movement from the other side to put women back in the kitchen."

"Women should do their work in the kitchen, but at the same time women can do their part to help their country just as well as any men that I know."

In this may be seen her warning of the concerted effort to drive women out of the field of knowledge of public affairs, and her appeal that they be alert to this menace.

She also frankly stated that "A dictator in Washington would be more acceptable to me than the present Congress." It was her opinion that an able and responsible dictator was to be preferred.

On the turbulent question of crime and its curbing which is now absorbing the attention of nation-wide interests, she said: "There has been in this country, we are glad to say, an awakened determination to curb crime in all its many ramifications. More publicity along certain lines can be of great value, but there are other ways in which we can help as well. Just as long as we have lawyers who can be counted upon to aid and abet the criminal, courts of a low mentality, and a court procedure that deliberately hamstrings the course of justice, you will find it most difficult to clean up our country as we desire."

Equally fearlessly she spoke upon other public problems. "We are glad to live in a country that believes in the free press, but there is a vast difference between a free press and the press that recognizes no bounds of decency. I wish some way could be devised for keeping out of our future papers stories of divorce scandals, murder trials, and other phases of crime that serve no good purpose and to a certain type of adolescent mind give an added stimulus to unbalanced living."

"In the community in which the child and the young person must be the center, we would do well to regulate more carefully the so-called finer things of life. We welcome the growth of municipal art exhibits, the fostering of community chorus work and little theater movements, the regulation of the type of pictures shown to the public, and the very strong sentiment recently aroused in our country that the radio, so powerful and far-reaching in its influence, must have a certain amount of regulation and supervision for the good of all."

No one hearing Mrs. Poole's address could doubt that she has become thoroughly conversant with many problems since her residence in Washington.

Clubwomen will not forget her warning words. They may ponder them to advantage during the summer and be ready for an effective campaign when the clubs convene again.

Wednesday saw several very frank and stirring discussions of public and home affairs. In the morning Mrs. Margaret Wells Wood, consultant to Social, Civic, and Educational Groups on Questions of Social Hygiene, urged sex education for the public schools. In the afternoon J. Frederick Essary, called the dean of Washington correspondents, gave a fearless discussion of Politics, and the Rev. Albert C. Dieffenbach, editor of "Religion Today," in the Boston Transcript, as frankly stated what should be "The Public Service of a Newspaper." In the evening an exposé of Gangland in Crime was frank and fearless.

Clubwomen who voted on Tuesday morning that information on birth control be disseminated legally, heard Mrs. Wood advocate sex education in the public schools, beginning with the tots in the first grade, in her presentation of the problems confronting young people "Growing Up in the World Today." She criticised the average High School course for girls, which, she said, begins with instructions on how to wash a baby instead of teaching the girls the proper approach to parenthood.

"Teaching a girl to wash a baby will never keep her from having one," the speaker said.

"We continue to emphasize cultural education for girls and material education for boys when we should be preparing young people frankly, honestly and sincerely for life itself," she asserted.

"What we need is an integrated and diffused program of sex education, beginning at the first grade. These courses should be put in charge of an intelligent board. There is room for a club woman on every such board."

In support of her argument Mrs. Wood quoted the late Jane Addams' statement to the effect that "Whether adults know it or not, youth knows that the business of youth is mating." "Boys and girls," Mrs. Wood asserted, "do not go to High School primarily to study. The most important time to them is before school, during recess, and after school, when they are getting acquainted with each other."

Clubwomen should help young people to enter marriage earlier and to make happy adjustments in marriage," she said. "Present economic conditions, with the attendant high cost of living, have made it impossible for many young men and women to enter upon marriage at the normal age."

She urged clubwomen everywhere, whether in small or large communities, to take a keener interest in the problems of youth and to interest themselves in supervising the moving pictures, dance halls, and recreation centers.

"Youth must have its fun," she declared, "but not in vicious surroundings. There is a big opportunity for clubwomen to make recreation centers safe," she said, "and a work worth their doing."

In discussing "The Checked Course of Politics," Mr. Essary—for twenty-five years one of the most competent and successful political writers in the country—said: "The most desperate need in our public life at the moment is a strong, vigorous and resourceful opposition to the party in power. Every hour of every day the party which happens at a given time to be charged with the administration of Government should be face to face with a challenge from the party out of power. There is no other way to put an effective curb upon the arrogance or the abuses or that maladministration of the regime which is elected to man our Government."

"For that reason, I would hail with delight the regeneration and revival of the Republican Party. The party may be down and dazed and demoralized, but it is not dead. If the New Deal collapses in another year, I warn you to look out for a resurrection of the Republican Party that may lead protesting people to a smashing victory. But while there may be no organized opposition to the New Deal, the opposition which we commonly associate with political parties, there is opposition nevertheless. At the moment, it comes from the extreme left, represented by such leadership as that offered by Senator Huey Long, Father Coughlin and Governor Olson."

Mr. Essary warned his audience against discounting Long's abilities, his inordinate ambitions and his mass appeal. He advised his hearers to keep an eye on Long and Father Coughlin, and warned that the time may come when his hearers would thank God for a Franklin Roosevelt to stand between them and the elements of discontent that these two men are now attempting to mobilize.

"So," said the speaker, "what began in the left wing of the movement is threatening a threatening problem was voiced by a speaker on 'The Rise of Fascism and the Decline of Socialism and Communism'; and one of Massachusetts' clubwomen voiced the warning as to discrimination against women, carrying forward what Mrs. Poole had said in her address Tuesday evening.

Herbert Agar, former attaché to the American embassy in London, said that there is immediate danger of Fascism getting a hold in this country, but not Communism. Fascism, he pointed out, comes first from an attempt to reform capitalism and in the last stage of Fascism the popular orators, the "hoopla" of Fascism, are used to support the worst elements of big scale capitalists.

"So," said the speaker, "what began in the left wing of the movement inside capitalism, ends with extreme repression and the preservation of only the worst elements of capitalism."

Mr. Agar said that he was one of a group of people who are planning a new organization that will be launched in the section of the Mississippi valley; the main object, first, is to clarify the present public issues so that people will see that there is a way of working out the present economic difficulties and making the real American system come to life again, and by which our democracy of equality and freedom can be saved.

He believes that a crisis has come in the thinking of the people, and that there are those who don't really understand the ideals upon which America is founded. This new organization, which at present goes unnamed, in his opinion, will serve as a clearing house for the issues of the day. In closing, he said, America is the only nation in the world which has so favorable an opportunity in finding its way out. He advised the owning of property for he said, "property ownership is the only basis of real democracy."

Mrs. Elizabeth W. Pigeon of Boston, chairman of the Department of Education, General Federation of Women's Clubs, said that today the tendency is to eliminate married women in office work and government services, as they have been eliminating them pretty consistently from school teaching. "Under the guise of depression and economic necessity, there is an undercurrent of Fascism insidiously creeping over the coun-

Plans For Fall Flower Show

The date of the Flower Show to be given jointly by the Newtonville Garden Club and the Conservation committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club has been set for September 26th. Two classes in this Show which will be open to any resident of Newtonville must be planted now. Specimen zinnias, including recent improved varieties, and new flowers, which must be grown from seed by the exhibitor, will be featured. A complete schedule of the Show will be published early in September, and exhibitors should watch for further particulars at that time.

Annual Meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Monday

A call to renewed activity in the daily application of Christian Science was issued Monday, June 3, at the annual meeting of The Mother Church. The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, by The Christian Science Board of Directors.

Church officers in their reports divulged marked growth of the movement throughout the world and increased demand for the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

George Wendell Adams, speaking as chairman of the Board of Directors, stressed the need for interest not only in problems of individuals, "but also in the general welfare of the world. Truth and Love hold guard over the whole world as well as over the minutest occupant of it," the Directors said.

"In these days of unrest, with rumors of new disagreements among nations, we should turn often to prayerful expectancy that nation shall not rise up against nation, but that Love, God, will be acknowledged as supreme in the affairs of men. In reality, men and nations do not envy and hate each other; because they have one heavenly Father they respect and love each other."

Referring to the new Christian Science Publishing House which increased demand for Christian Science literature made necessary, Mr. Adams asserted that while wholesome activity in the movement continues "the putting up of buildings, however beautiful and necessary they may be, does not in itself lay the foundation for spiritual enlightenment which is essential to meet the demands of hu-try," she said. "There seems to be a deliberate plan to wrest married women from their right to work. What is originally aimed at married women will later affect all women," she said. "This is a challenge to the clubwoman, and as clubwomen it is our duty to rise up in our might and stand in solid phalanx for the preservation of those privileges and inalienable rights, which progressive women have fought for consistently through years and which are essential and inherent in a democracy."

TRIBUTE TO JANE ADDAMS

That clubwomen realize the courage of pioneer women who fought to place women in spheres of usefulness in public service once so narrowly denied them, through prejudice, and that they will always pay honor to such leaders, was evidenced on Tuesday morning, when the newspapers had just heralded the tidings of the passing of Jane Addams, known nation-wide for many activities for women and children, but perhaps most generally known as the founder of famous "Hull House". Before the formal opening of the morning's session, the entire assemblage stood in silence for a moment in tribute to her memory.

PRIZES AWARDED

There is always keen interest in the announcement of the winners in the various contests in the State departments. On Wednesday, Mothercraft prizes were announced as follows: First, Eleanor Siegel, Milford; second, Sophie Hanneski, Amherst; third, Agnes Moriarty, Winchendon; fourth, Natalie Snow, Braintree. Honorable mention: Carolyn Campbell-Reading; Eleanor Cody, Braintree; Janet Farley, Natick; Jean Jeraly, Northampton; Josephine Martin, Marlboro; Marjory Ransom, Salem; Diana Redoux, Orange; Dorothy Roehnholm, Gardner; Ruth Saunders, Winthrop; Inez Wallstedt, Lynn; Elizabeth Hanop, South Dartmouth; and Irene Vieri, South Dartmouth.

Mrs. Clyde H. Swan of Barre, Conservation chairman, announced the following prizes in Forestry Note Books: Noah Torrey school, Braintree; Woodland Street school, West Boylston; and Wilbraham Street school, Springfield.

Individual boys' book: John Reed Pym, Stanley school, Swampscott; and Betty Ohnemus, Nahum Hardy school, Waltham.

Prizes awarded to schools submitting the greatest number of books: Roosevelt school, Framingham; Penman school, Braintree; and Woodrow Wilson school, Framingham.

Perhaps of keenest interest to the audience was when Miss Constance Pym, eleven-year-old, attractive and modest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Pym, of 6 Beach Bluff avenue, Beach Bluff, and granddaughter of Mrs. John J. Heys, of Lynn, carried off the honors in this State-wide Contest in Forestry and Conservation Note Books, and Mrs. Swan, State chairman, presented Miss Constance with a medal suitably inscribed. There were 190 notebooks submitted by boys and girls in grades from the Berkshires to Cape Cod.

The book represents three weeks work, and contains descriptions of forestry and conservation, including flowers and birds, illustrated with pictures. The awarding of the first prize to the Swampscott pupil brings recognition to the sixth grade in the Stanley School, of which Miss Blanche Doyle, is principal, and Miss Charlotte Conners is Constance's teacher.

The Juniors of Webster won the award of first prize in the Drama contest, and it was interesting to see a bevy of attractive Webster Juniors at the Convention.

Other awards in State department contests have been announced already in the Column.

Account of the State Annual meeting will be concluded next week, and the account of the General Federation Triennial will be given.

during the two decades just passed," Mr. Bartlett pointed out. "The list of publications which in 1915 consisted of 39 items has expanded to more than 200; while new books and translations authorized and now underway, to be published within the next 12 months, will add 30 new items to the list."

Approximately 6000 persons, representing but a fraction of the total membership of The Mother Church, crowded the great auditorium to the third gallery, overflowing into the original edifice adjoining.

Allege Smoke Nuisance At Auburndale

Alderman Cronin Says Neighbor Accuses Lasell

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night Alderman Cronin called attention to an alleged smoke nuisance at Auburndale. He said that Henry Goodman of Hawthorne ave. had complained to him that he has been bothered by heavy smoke coming frequently from houses on either side of the Goodman property which are owned by Lasell Seminary and used as dormitories. Cronin said that Goodman had resided on the street for 29 years and had been bothered for the past few years since the educational institution bought the adjoining residences and used soft coal for fuel. Cronin quoted Section 39 Chapter 140 of the Massachusetts statutes which prohibits heavy smoke issuing from any chimney for more than 5 minutes in any one hour, or 90 minutes in one day unless a special permit has been granted by a city or town. He asked if any permit has been so given to Lasell Seminary and was told by Alderman Hill that none had. Cronin said that something should be done to stop the alleged nuisance caused by very black smoke.

Newtonville Man Given Honorary Science Degree

At the annual Commencement Exercises held at DePauw University at Greencastle, Indiana, on Monday, June 17th, Carl S. Ell of 21 Beaumont ave., Newtonville, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science which was conferred upon him by Dr. G. Bromley Oxman, president of DePauw in recognition of his outstanding achievement and his contributions to Engineering Education.

Vice-president of Northeastern University and Dean of the Day Colleges of Engineering, Arts and Sciences, and Business Administration, Dean Ell established the first co-operative school of Engineering in the East at Northeastern in 1917. He joined the Northeastern faculty as an instructor in civil engineering in 1919. Last week he was given a dinner at the University Club in honor of his 25 years of service at Northeastern.

Dean Ell received his A.B. from DePauw in 1919 and is now president of the New England DePauw Alumni Association. In 1911 he received his S.B. from Mass. Institute of Technology and a year later his M.S. from M. I. T. Harvard University gave him a Master of Education degree in 1932. A leader in the field of engineering education, Dean Ell is now New England Chairman of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education and will attend the national meeting of the S. P. E. E. at Georgia Tech, Atlanta, Ga., June 24th to 28th, before returning to Newtonville.

Questions Use Of Playground

Guzzi Asks If Use By Circus Is Legal

Alderman Guzzi at the meeting of the Board on Monday night asked if it is legal to allow the Newton Centre playground to be used for a circus performance this week under the auspices of the Newton Centre Women's Club. He called attention to the fact that permits were refused last year to Newton Lodge of Elks and the V. F. W. when they asked for the use of Victory Field playground at Nonantum Park for carnival purposes. President Gordon of the Board said that the granting of the permit for the use of the playground is an executive matter, under the control of the mayor.

Five Injured In Auto Crash At Upper Falls

Three automobiles were involved in a collision at Needham st., near Oak st., Upper Falls, on Monday night about 11:30. The cars were driven by Arthur Lussier of Providence, William Digou of Watertown and Charles Norberg of North Easton. Norberg reported that his car was sideswiped by that of Digou's. Lussier's car was then crashed into. Digou and two women relatives riding with him were injured. Also Norberg and a passenger in his car. All were taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Newton Centre Dog Bites Man

James Dunn of 58 Morse st., Watertown, reported to the Newton police on Friday that he had been bitten by a dog owned by Arthur Calver of 154 Langley rd., Newton Center. The dog was ordered restrained.

Newton Dogs Win Prizes

Two dogs owned by Joseph Sturt of Montrose st., Newton, won prizes last Sunday at the show of the Ladies' Kennel Club in Brookline. "King of Allsworth," a miniature Schnauzer, was awarded a first prize in the winner's dog class and "Paddy Whack," a standard Schnauzer, won the prize for best of breed.

The Montreal meeting was an exceptionally instructive one, and many things emphasized will be of real value in connection with our work in Newton."

Community Chests Grow In Years Of Depression

Community Chest work was discussed in great detail at the conference of the Community Chests and Councils, Inc., just held in Montreal, Canada. This meeting marked the seventeenth birthday of this association, and during the recent depression years over one hundred Community Chests have been organized.

The key note of the entire meeting was the need for more general understanding and appreciation of the many ways in which the present Community Chest set-up increases the results from every dollar raised. This is brought about by a closer co-operation between government and private relief organizations, as well as co-operation between all member-agencies.

The Newton Community Chest Incorporated is a member of the National Organization, and was represented at the Montreal meeting by Mr. L. A. Bruce, Jr., Executive Secretary.

In speaking about our own Newton Community Chest, Mr. Bruce said, "Some still think of the Community Chest here in Newton as 'just another drive for money.' As a matter of fact it is a case of one systematic collection of money instead of fourteen. People should also remember that the collection of money is only one of six important duties of the Chest. These six duties are:

1. Assist and work closely with each member-agency.

2. Co-ordinate the work of member-agencies with that of all other private and public social service agencies of the city.

3. Keep you informed regarding the work of each member-agency and that of the Chest organization.

4. Work out the smallest possible budget to handle the work as you want it done.

5. Collect pledges and money once a year, keeping the cost as low as possible.

6. Spend money in accordance with the budget in a way to get the most good for every dollar used.

The Montreal meeting was an exceptionally instructive one, and many things emphasized will be of real value in connection with our work in Newton."

Saltonstall Given Degree by N. E. University

Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of the House of Representatives was awarded the degree of Doctor of Laws by Northeastern University at its commencement exercises in the Boston Arena on Tuesday night. Mr. Saltonstall has been Speaker of the House for the past 6 years and a member of that body for 10 years. He served two years as a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen and has been prominently mentioned as the next Republican candidate for Governor. In addition to his political duties, he is a director in many business enterprises and is active in a number of charitable organizations.

The first hearing on the docket was on a petition of the Edison Company and the Telephone Company for a joint pole location on Grove st., near Central st., Auburndale. Alderman Cronin asked Mr. Pepin of the Edison Company why the pole location is asked for. He was told that the Edison Company has no present need for this pole but the Telephone Company wants it. Mr. Campbell of the latter company explained that the pole is needed for an additional cable which otherwise would have to be carried over a circuitous route. The Edison and Telephone Companies also asked for a pole location on Bruce rd. near Cotton st. to serve new houses there.

The Licenses Committee reported no action necessary on the petition of Peter McInnis and others asking that the Middlesex & Boston Company be ordered to discontinue operating busses on Floral and Hyde sts., Newton Highlands. Alderman Hill said that the M. & B. has a franchise right to run busses on Floral st. and had been given a temporary permit to operate busses on Hyde st. by the Newton Street Department. He said that in view of the fact that the Aldermen did not grant the temporary permit, the committee believed that the Board should not rescind this permit.

The Licenses Committee, according to the docket, presented a majority report of five years, with Alderman Atkins and Guzzi dissenting, disapproving of a list of billboard locations which had been submitted for approval by the State Department of Public Works. Alderman Hill, chairman of the committee, said that the majority of the committee did not believe any permits should be issued for these signs because of pending legislation regarding billboards. He explained that locations for five billboards had been submitted by the State officials. One is for a small sign, 5 by 3 feet, at 2264 Washington st., Lower Falls. Three are for huge billboards to surround one-story buildings in the Nonantum section. One on the building at Chapel and Watertown sts., has dimensions 50 by 12 feet; a second on the opposite corner of these two streets is 25 by 12 feet, the third at 325 Watertown st., has measurements of 50 by 12 feet. The fifth billboard location is on Needham st. opposite Kenneth st., Newton Highlands, with measurements of 150 by 12 feet. Alderman Hill stated that the big billboards at Nonantum and Newton Highlands would violate the building code of Newton.

Alderman Atkins said he had not agreed with the majority of the committee in opposing these billboards because he knew of no reasons why the Aldermen should object to them, and he is not opposed to billboards in general. He stated that after hearing the City Solicitor give reasons, before the meeting started, why the billboards in question should be opposed, he would agree with the majority of the committee. Alderman Guzzi also said that after listening to the City Solicitor, he would vote with the majority of the committee. The Board voted to accept the committee report and requested the Mayor and City Solicitor to oppose the billboards.

On recommendation of the Licenses Committee the Board voted to withdraw on the petition of Philip Rubin for a permit to sell second-hand automobiles at 294 Washington (Continued on page 4)

Start Meeting Monday Hour and Half Late

A record was established at the meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night. This meeting, in common with other regular meetings of the Board, was advertised to start at 7:45 p. m., and several persons were in the Aldermanic Chamber at that hour waiting for the public hearings scheduled on the docket of the meeting. But, they had to wait until 9:08 for the meeting to commence, nearly an hour and a half after it was supposed to start.

The first hearing on the docket was on a petition of the Edison Company and the Telephone Company for a joint pole location on Grove st., near Central st., Auburndale. Asks For Rent Gets Wallop

Carmine Piantedosi, 23, of 272 Nevada st., Newtonville, was in the Newton court on Tuesday charged with assault on Levi Kusieka of 270 Nevada st., his landlord. The complainant testified that after he had notified the defendant's wife that the rent must be paid or the apartment vacated, Piantedosi hit him and knocked him down. The defendant stated that Kusieka had a club in his hand. A suspended sentence of six months in prison was imposed on the alleged assailant.

Fined $100 for Careless Driving

Milton McDuff of 243 Springvale ave., Everett, was fined $100 in the Newton court on Saturday for driving a car so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. A car driven by McDuff collided with the rear of another automobile which had stopped at the Worcester pike at Newton Center to pick up some passengers.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

By JACK MORRIS

Newton Highlights

Batting averages for the Newton High ball team have been figured in round numbers by John Ham, varsity manager. Pitcher John Quinn heads the list with four safe hits in six trips to the plate, an average of .667. Okie O'Connell, who hit a home run every game for the Intermediates, rates second place on Manager Ham's list with .500, but the slugging junior actually hit one out of four in varsity games for .250. The averages of the regulars follow:

	AB	H	Ave.
Byrne	43	17	.395
Spilman	37	14	.378
Morrison	34	12	.353
Tornabene	20	7	.350
Marazzo	35	12	.343
Simon	39	13	.333
Bosworth	19	6	.316
Letetti	14	4	.316
Callanan	20	5	.250

Revised player's lists effective immediately through August were adopted at a meeting of the Newton Twilight League held at the Newton Centre Recreation Building, Wednesday evening.

It was ruled that any game in which a team appeared on a field without all players in uniform would be forfeited.

"Cliff" Choquette has finally decided to sign with the Scholastics.

The team is still doing business at the old stand under the pseudonym of the Newton Scholastics of the twilight league. They pinned defeat on the Newton Centre nine recently with little regard for their former coach, Jeff Jones, a player for the Centre team.

Year of New Records

Six new track records have been hung up at Newton High during the past year, and that hard-working junior, Warren Wittens, has a share in every one. Wittens' new records are:

440 Yard Run—52 seconds.
120 Yard Low Hurdles—14 seconds (State Meet Class A Record).
220 Yard Low Hurdles—24 4-5 seconds.

300 Yard Run (indoors)—34 4-5 seconds.

Added to the individual efforts of Wittens are two new relay records for Newton High quartets, the Boston Garden eight-lap relay (2-mile) run in 2m 15s by Wittens, Bob Kiley, Al Freeman and Bob Muther, and the outdoor 880-yard relay run in 1m 33 2-5s by Bob Muther, Al Freeman, Ted Ladd and Wittens, equaling the State Meet record.

Great Athletes Leave

Graduated from the senior class at Newton High this year were several fine athletes. Among them were Augustus Castoldi, captain of varsity football and hockey; James Byrne, captain of basketball, leading football and baseball man; and William Spilman, all-around athlete, football, basketball and baseball ace and captain of baseball.

Spilman did not play football last fall, ostensibly because of an ailing heart muscle, but possibly for a reason of his own. His former teammates on junior teams sang high praise of Spilley's unusual ability at ball-carrying, blocking, kicking and passing. And oddly enough, although he is reputed the finest hockey goalie in the city, he chose to play basketball last winter, when Doctor Martin was undergoing a sad case of goitre.

Two Newton boys share in athletic awards at Cushing Academy which were announced this week. George Steers of Newtonville received a hockey "C" and numerals in baseball. John MacCarey of Newton Centre was awarded numerals in hockey.

Mr. John Larsen, former New England Horseshoe Pitching Champion was present at the meeting of the Newton Horseshoe Pitcher's League here, June 11th, at the Cabot Playground building. He outlined a plan for an Eastern Massachusetts Horseshoe Championship to be held at St. Moritz in Quincy late in August. Valuable prizes will be offered for the winners and each city is allowed to enter a team. Newton will enter a team in this championship.

HERE AND THERE: Mrs. Dorothy Hunter Whittemore of Brae Burn is playing a fine game of golf these days. She was a semi-finalist in the State women's, and finished well up in the Eastern championship at Philadelphia last week. James "Bullet" Byrne, leading batter of the Newton High pine, will play for the Catholic Club in the Twi League, but not until the middle finger of his throwing hand is healed, since he jammed it in a set of swinging doors at the high school last week. The high school tennis team held their banquet at Quinlan's on Route 128 in Westwood, where Bill Spilman and Albert "Doc" Billings have been located since school closed.

Autos Collide at Newton Centre

A car driven by Frank H. Mayo of Waverley Avenue, Watertown, crashed into the rear of a car driven by Isaac Kaufman of Hilltop St., Newton, at Parker and Walter Sts., Newton Centre, on last Friday afternoon. Kaufman reported that he received an injury to his stomach. Both cars were damaged. Mayo said his attention was diverted by the radiator of his car boiling over.

Newton Men Attend 40th Reunion Of Harvard '95

During the past week the alumni of Harvard University have been holding their respective class reunions, banquets and other activities in conjunction with Commencement. The 40th reunion of the Class of '95 has been well-attended by Newton residents. Among the members of this class are Judge Thomas Weston, Albert Mann, and Norman Bingham of West Newton, Arthur C. Johnson, Eliot B. Church, Phillip Nichols, and Dr. Edward Melius of Newton and Howard Whitmore of Newton Highlands.

Saturday afternoon the Newton Y. M. C. A. Tennis Team will play the Waltham Tennis Club at the Waltham courts. These men will represent the "Y": Gordon Kitchin, L. Chase Kepner, Roland S. Coombs, Albert Rogan, Paul McKinnon, and James L. Carr.

Newtonville Scouts Hold Final Court of Honor

The final Court of Honor of the Sixth Norumbega Group, Boy Scouts and Cubs, of Newtonville, was held at the Newton High School Drill Shed Wednesday evening. The boys and their parents seated themselves around an indoor "campfire" constructed by the Scouts and started the evening off with a round of games and singing, after which under the leadership of Scoutmaster W. Bradford Gove the Court of Honor was opened.

The following awards were made:

Beginner's Swimming Award of the American Red Cross to Scout Larry Betz; Wolf Badge to Cub Harold McKusick; Bear Badges to Cubs Scott Doten, Fred Cole, Gardner Oleson, Ted Bouler and Charles Thomas; Silver Arrow to Cub Thomas. These were presented by Cubmaster Donald Hunt.

COMMENCEMENT SEASON

The commencement season is always one of unusual interest with the various colleges conferring degrees and awarding diplomas to many of the young people of the Newtons. The college graduate this year is somewhat more fortunate than the alumnae of the past five years. Prior to 1930 the graduate went forth into the world with all the confidence of making good in the untold opportunities which then existed. During the past five years the graduate has accepted his diploma with a great feeling of bewilderment as to what the future held in store and with a great feeling of uncertainty as to the value of the education he had striven to obtain. Today there still exists a certain amount of doubt as to where to turn but it is encouraging to note the existence of opportunities. Many colleges are reporting that more places have been found for graduates than for several years past. The troubous times of the past five years, despite the continued dearth of employment, have given way in part to a diligent effort toward the social and economic security of the future. The problem is complex. It will require new ideas and new leaders to bring about a solution. Many of these new ideas and much of the new leadership will come from those who have prepared to take their place in the world.

A NEW TAX PROGRAM

A new tax program has been submitted to Congress at the time when most people were hopefully looking forward to a speedy completion of the present session of that body. The submission of such a tax program, appealing as it does to those who believe in a "share-the-wealth" plan is disturbing to many phases of a natural tendency toward recovery. There are two radically different foundations for a tax program. One approach to the tax problem is that which will balance the budget and meet the expenditures of government. The other approach is that of bringing about social and economic regulation by taxation. In this latter plan the power of taxation may readily be misused. We believe in proper regulation of activities which have a direct bearing upon the public interest but we foresee the dangers which will be encountered in attempting to enforce regulation by taxation. Can we hope that Congress will guard against the pitfalls which confront the nation?

A CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT

A movement is underway to eliminate "ragweed" in order that many may be relieved from the sufferings of hay fever for which this obnoxious plan is greatly responsible. The attempt should have the co-operation of everyone. We understand that the city will do what is possible to prevent the growth of ragweed upon public property but that it is up to every individual to do his share where the weed is prevalent upon private land. The neighboring community of Brookline has had considerable success in an effort to destroy this plant and we trust that Newton, through the co-operation of all residents, will do likewise.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edward H. Powers

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Tuesday night Alderman Guzzi asked if it is legal to allow the use of the Newton Center playground for circus performances this week. President Gordon of the Board did not answer the question. He merely stated that "this is an executive matter." Guzzi mentioned that the permit for the use of the playground had been granted to the Newton Centre Women's Club under whose auspices the circus performances were given, and he remarked that use of Victory Field playground at Nonantum had been refused last year to Newton Lodge of Elks and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

It is no secret that the use of any city owned playground or other public property by individuals or organizations for a circus, carnival or similar activities for which admission is charged is not legal. The City Solicitor has perforce had to admit this on various occasions. The circus at Newton Centre may have been a harmless, enjoyable form of entertainment, and had yesterday been a good day, the Newton Center Women's Club might have profited financially from its share of the receipts. But, the use of the playground for such a purpose should not have been granted. When one organization is granted such a privilege it is inevitable that other organizations will demand similar privileges. We know that as a result of the permit having been granted for the use of the Newton Centre playground, applications will soon be presented for the use of other playgrounds. And the permits sought will not all be for circus performances. Some will be for carnivals. Cities such as Cambridge and Waltham which have been liberal in granting permits for carnivals in the past, have recently decided to ban this type of entertainment. The use of playgrounds should be restricted to the purpose for which citizens were taxed to purchase and develop them, and are taxed to maintain them—for recreational activities of children and young people. It costs money to create and keep grass on playgrounds. After a circus or a carnival has been held on a playground, take a look at the grass—or what's left of it.

The Board of Aldermen did the right thing on Tuesday night by refusing to approve the locations for billboards submitted by the State Department of Public Works. Three of these were for locations of huge billboards on top of one story buildings at Nonantum. The fourth was for a billboard 15 ft. long on Needham st., Newton Highlands. Nonantum or any other section of Newton should not be rendered unsightly by big billboards.

Several years ago the Newton Aldermen adopted a policy of refusing to approve locations for additional billboards in this city but the State Department of Public Works at that time showed a strong partiality for the billboard interests, overrode the action of the Newton Aldermen and authorized the erection of the big billboards.

Appropriations passed by the Board included—materials for E. R. A. projects and cost of administration, $1000; Law Department for award to Sigvald Ramsland in land taking on Whitlow rd., $220; Water Department for main in Woodcliff rd., $500; furnishings and equipment at Nevada st. school, $10,523.74; Street Department, construction of walls along Laundry Brook between Cabot street and Walnut streets, $8042. Alderman Bowen said that the appropriation for work at the brook is for materials only. The labor will be performed by men on the E.R.A. roll and will give employment to 50 men for nine weeks. The meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock and the next meeting will be held on July 15.

Alderman Bowen said that the appropriation for work at the brook is for materials only. The labor will be performed by men on the E.R.A. roll and will give employment to 50 men for nine weeks. The meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock and the next meeting will be held on July 15.

The Board of Aldermen did the right thing on Tuesday night by refusing to approve the locations for billboards submitted by the State Department of Public Works. Three of these were for locations of huge billboards on top of one story buildings at Nonantum. The fourth was for a billboard 15 ft. long on Needham st., Newton Highlands. Nonantum or any other section of Newton should not be rendered unsightly by big billboards.

Several years ago the Newton Aldermen adopted a policy of refusing to approve locations for additional billboards in this city but the State Department of Public Works at that time showed a strong partiality for the billboard interests, overrode the action of the Newton Aldermen and authorized the erection of the big billboards.

Appropriations passed by the Board included—materials for E. R. A. projects and cost of administration, $1000; Law Department for award to Sigvald Ramsland in land taking on Whitlow rd., $220; Water Department for main in Woodcliff rd., $500; furnishings and equipment at Nevada st. school, $10,523.74; Street Department, construction of walls along Laundry Brook between Cabot street and Walnut streets, $8042. WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Highlights at Swampscott

(Concluded)

VARIOUS AND SUNDAY

On Wednesday morning a large number of clubwomen availed themselves of the delightful invitation extended from the Ninth district, by Mrs. Edward B. Botsford, director, to visit the beautiful gardens and to walk or drive among these estates in Lynn and Swampscott.

Wednesday afternoon five new clubs were presented to the Convention. This event is always an interesting half-hour for the delegates, for the presidents or some officers representing the clubs which have joined the State Federation during the year, respond to the presentation with a bit of wit or cleverness that is entertaining.

The Federation Ensemble Chorus gave the musical program that added festivity Wednesday evening. Groups of singers among the women's clubs and the singers of the Federated Choral Society, conducted by George Sawyer Dunham, presented many lovely compositions written by Massachusetts women. Our own Mrs. Moses H. Gulesian presided at the piano for one of her compositions.

Newton is proud to know that a new composition of Mrs. Gulesian's, written for the Juniors, entitled "March of Youth," with words written by Clara Endicott Sears, who has collaborated before with Mrs. Gulesian, in the "Hymn to America," was sung at the Triennial of the General Federation.

ELECTION

The formal announcement of the official vote for election of officers that marks the close of the Convention in the last session came on Thursday, May 23rd, with its always beautiful attendant profusion of flowers poured out in loving affection upon outgoing and incoming officers. The clubwomen whose task — and pleasurable and yet a bit touching is this presentation of tribute — it was to bestow these flowers, circled Convention Hall. Garbed in dainty white; their arms filled with many-colored bouquets and garlands whose fragrance was wafted as they passed; it was a pretty spectacle to see these women take the flowers to the platform.

The ballot as already given in this Column was elected, and Mrs. Thomas J. Walker continues as president.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Clubwomen who have planned the pleasurable June motor trip to Amherst on Tuesday, the 25th, should NOTE the announcement of the CHANGE IN DATE of the Mothercraft Play Day which was to have taken place at the Dickinson-Baggs Tavern—where clubwomen have taken so much enjoyment in gathering on summer days—to September 6th. This postponement is due to the fact that work on the Mother's Memory Garden, as Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball has so appropriately named this new garden she is landscaping, will not be complete until then. The meeting will also feature an exhibition of Old Glass, of which Mrs. Frank M. Thompson, of Amherst, will have charge, in this exhibit there will be the interesting display of actual glass-blowing by experts.

It should be noted that the Fall Meeting of the State Federation is scheduled to be held at Holyoke on October 23rd. Clubwomen should red pencil the date.

It should be noted, too, that the New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs will be held in Providence on the 24th, 25th, and 26th of September. More and more clubwomen of Massachusetts are acquiring the habit of attending these annual New England Conferences, having discovered that many practical facts are presented of value in keeping abreast of the times, and in information about New England. Moreover the delightful fall season in which it is held gives opportunity for an automobile trip and vacation that combines most satisfactorily.

The discussion was concluded by Mrs. Wiley, who said that there is actually before the Court a world code proposing a lower stand on nationality rights for women than is held to be by the United States, and that "the cornerstone of world law should include equality for women."

The discussion was concluded by Mrs. Wiley, who said that there is actually before the Court a world code proposing a lower stand on nationality rights for women than is held to be by the United States, and that "the cornerstone of world law should include equality for women."

The vote was not altogether lost for the National Woman's Party, since 142 delegates voted in favor of the amendment, and 256 voted against it, showing a marked increase of friendliness on the part of this, one of the most conservative of women's organizations.

Another matter in which keen interest of clubwomen has been aroused country-wide, and one which it was anticipated would cause a great deal of controversial discussion, proved, quite to the contrary, that opinion is quite general among the women that information as to Birth Control should be legally disseminated. This Resolution was adopted by a vote of 493 delegates, and only 17 were against it. Discussion was most interesting, with not only an array of statistical figures to prove points made, but with clever and witty arguments and remarks that were most entertaining and enlightening.

For the first time in history a national women's organization will be headed by one who is really descended from one of the "first citizens" of these United States. It is somewhat thrilling to realize that Mrs. Lawson is the granddaughter, on the maternal side, of the Rev. Charles Johnson, the last chief of the tribe of Delaware Indians. The vote of the delegates was 846 for Mrs. Lawson and 538 for Dr. Peirce. Dr. Peirce had been considered the favorite in the race, having behind her many of the "old guard" women who have been prominent in Federation administration for many years and whose support has usually spelled success for any candidate.

Mrs. Lawson is one-eighth Indian origin. Much of her writing and lecturing has been devoted to the history, music, art, and legend of the Indian race.

For a time, according to Oklahoma delegates, some opposition to her candidacy centered around her Indian heritage, and credit for overcoming it was bestowed on Mrs. Thomas McSpadden, of Chelsea, Oklahoma, sister of Will Rogers, the humorist. Mrs. Lawson's father's ancestry was Scotch.

Her organization activities have also included membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the D. A. R., besides her many years of service on the Executive Board of the General Federation. The support by radio of Will Rogers, a plea from the Governor of Oklahoma to the clubwomen to give her candidacy their earnest consideration, and the nightly long distance calls from her son back in Tulsa, Oklahoma, all helped to lend glamour to the election. Mrs. Lawson stood radiant, Monday evening, in a white lace gown, carrying a huge bunch of American Beauty roses, sent by United States Senator and Mrs. Elmer Thomas, her first floral gift, received just as the news of victory was being brought to her.

So the leadership of about two million clubwomen in the United States swung from the east to the west, as Mrs. Lawson succeeds Mrs. Poole, of Brockton; and also the first vice-president elected is a westerner, the unopposed candidate for this office, Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, of Portland, Oregon. The unopposed candidate, Mrs. Latell Dickinson, of New Hampshire, was naturally elected treasurer. Mrs. Walter W. Seymour, of Chicago, defeated her two opponents for the second vice-president.

The three-cornered race for recording secretary had to be run off again on Tuesday, as no candidate received a majority. Mrs. John S. Harvey, of Huntington, W. Va., then was the successful candidate. Miss Emily Louise Plumley of Glenbrook, Conn. Mrs. Ernest Galloway, of Florida, and Mrs. C. W. Hunter, of Kansas, were elected trustees.

Consideration of Resolutions brought before the Convention was another subject of outstanding interest. The General Federation has repeatedly gone on record as in favor of the United States being represented in the World Court. Accordingly, there was no thought other than that this Resolution would go through with perfunctory unanimity. But an amendment aroused most provocative thought, this being a reservation that the code of law to be administered by the World Court shall not contain inequalities based on sex.

This move to amend was immediately made by Mrs. Harvey Wiley, of Washington, D. C., an active member of the National Woman's Party, and seconded by Mrs. Emma A. Fox, of Detroit, veteran parliamentarian.

Mrs. Fox made a plea "that this big organization should stand by the progress women have made during over 300 years for the removal of all legal discriminations."

Speaking for the amendment, Mrs. Otto Hahn, of New York City, declared that the amendment was unnecessary, since "the cases which come before the World Court have nothing to do with women, but deal with treaty rights, neutrality, and international law," and that "it is more important to women and their families not to have war than to have this tacked on to the Court where it does not belong," this amendment for fancied equality.

The discussion was concluded by Mrs. Wiley, who said that there is actually before the Court a world code proposing a lower stand on nationality rights for women than is held to be by the United States, and that "the cornerstone of world law should include equality for women."

The vote was not altogether lost for the National Woman's Party, since 142 delegates voted in favor of the amendment, and 256 voted against it, showing a marked increase of friendliness on the part of this, one of the most conservative of women's organizations.

Discussion was most interesting, with not only an array of statistical figures to prove points made, but with clever and witty arguments and remarks that were most entertaining and enlightening.

But aside from the humor of the remarks of delegates, the following facts presented by speakers, especially in answer to the opposition of sending such information through the mail, show how much more dangerous is the situation without the Federal control for which the Resolution asks.

Mrs. S. Blair Luckie, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the department of Legislation which sponsored the Resolution, declared:

"It now is a violation of the penal code for this information to be sent

News of the Garden Clubs

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Garden Club of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its next meeting on Monday, June 24th, at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Percival Waters, 35 Newton street, Weston, with the assistance of Mrs. Mrs. J. A. McDonald.

Those who attend will enjoy a steak luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, for which tickets are 65 cents. The proceeds over and above the cost of the luncheon will be used for some special purpose in connection with the Garden Club.

After luncheon, a Demonstration will be given in Outdoor and Fireplace Cookery, this to be followed by a tour of Mrs. Waters' very beautiful garden.

Mrs. John Shad Franklin, president of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, attended the Triennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, held at Detroit, Michigan. Other Club members who attended with Mrs. Franklin were Mrs. George Jackson, Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, and Mrs. Herman Place.

Newtonville Garden Club

The Newtonville Garden Club held its Annual Meeting at the home of Mrs. George A. Edmonds, 190 Bullock park, Newtonville, on June 13th. Mrs. G. B. Gilmore reviewed the book, "Down the Garden Path," by Beverly Nichols.

The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Walter S. Adams; secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Beatty; and Program chairman, Mrs. Horace P. Coleman.

by public carrier. Those of you who have argued against the resolution on the ground that this information is now obtainable in any drug store, are innocently endorsing such violations, also illegal operations, and dangerous methods. Let us make the sending out of scientifically-controlled information legal. I hold in my hand that endorsement by 148 clubs, fourteen States, and a number of city and district Federations, all dated and properly attested.

Mrs. T. V. Moore, of Miami, Fla., said that the State Health Board is in favor of making information available but is unable to give out the facts.

Dr. Mary Baughmann, of Richmond, Va., stated that the Virginia Federation is in favor of making information available.

Mrs. Luckie further said: "This action imposes no responsibility upon an individual. It is neither political nor religious

Warren Jr. High

United for the last time as the class of 1935, members of Junior III met this afternoon for their final assembly. Some 289 students—the largest class to leave Warren—made an effective picture as they marched in slow procession to their places. Jack Smith, president of Junior III presided. The class prophecy was read by Sanchia Thayer, John Lane, Nancy Howatt and Robert Blakeslee; and the class will by Bob Meyers. The class history was presented in dramatic form with the following people taking part: Trumpeters, Joseph Larson and William Ross; Pages, Russell Carle and Lawrence Mitchell; Father Time, Dexter Hill; Readers, Betty Gleason, Elmer Dugan and Nancy Rogers; Pantomime actors, Kenneth Whelan, Ruth Baird, Betty Grimm, Janet Rice, Teddy Davidson, Ned Goode, William Golding and John Ingalls; Musician, Ralph Burns.

The class gift, a check for $148 to be used for a new radio amplifier and loud speakers for Jr. III home rooms, was presented to John Hay, the incoming president of the student council. The athletic cup was awarded to the Blues, highest ranking girls' color team. Mr. Scarborough then made the following awards for service to Warren School Community: Honor Plin, Jerry Harvey, Grace Verplanck and Albert Wickson; School letters, Audrey Stockbridge, Joseph Larson, Donald Foster, William Walsh, Lester McArthur and Richard Rice. Over 100 smaller awards were made to representatives of Junior III home rooms.

The faculty extended a commendation card to Virginia Lingquist of Junior II who, because of illness, has successfully completed the requirements of the college preparatory group at home.

Day Jr. High School

On Monday, June 17th, the F. A. Day welcomed as guests the sixth grades of the district. Malcolm Broderick, president of the Seventh Grade, was chairman of the assembly program in which different phases of school life were explained for the benefit of next year's seventh grade.

Mr. R. V. Burkhardt, as principal, issued a general welcome on behalf of the teachers and pupils. Further speakers were Miss Ernestine Wright, Mr. G. E. Tanner, Miss Louise Paul, Donald Emig, Sally Cushing, Norman Ross. Club demonstrations were given by the Band, directed by Mr. Frank Tanner, by the Seventh Grade Dramatic Club, the Marionette Club, and the Radio Club. Pupils participating were Donald Blackey, Carl Margolin, Stuart Wilson, Doris Myers, Samuel Thompson, James Gallagher, Robert Steacie, Norman Ross, Joa Cox, Walter Crane and Weston Haskell. Following the program, members of the Student Patrol conducted groups of visitors on a tour of inspection around the building.

The Radio Club ended a successful season on June 15th when it presented a twenty-one minute program on a national hook-up over the N. B. C. system from station WEEL. Mr. R. V. Burkhardt introduced the program which was an interview with General Daniel Needham on the subject of "Fingerprinting." Questions were asked by Norman Ross, Weston Haskell, Ernest Colarullo, Dean Lewis, Joa Cox, Nancy Flagg, Isabel Kemp, Rita Matthews, and Beverley Green. An interesting fact about this program was that the National Education Association, with Dr. Florence Hale as director of radio, turned this broadcast entirely over to this school without even knowing what the script was to be.

Dr. Brewer Eddy was guest speaker at the last assembly on June 19th. He told of conditions in some of the twenty-two countries that he visited last summer. After his talk, a formal fare-well was tendered the Ninth Grade by Mr. Burkhardt, the teachers, and the other two grades. As the Ninth Graders marched out of the auditorium, everyone else rose and applauded.

Paramount Theatre Offers Attractive Program

The Paramount Theatre in Newton presents an all star program which opens on Sunday for four days. The first: "The Informer," a new emotional experience thunders from the screen with Victor McLaglen and a supporting cast of Heather Angel, Preston Foster, Margot Grahame and Wallace Ford. Its dramatic power storms the mind and stirs the soul.

In it flames all the raging passions, the loves, the hates, the terrors and the glories at the human heart. Life at its best and worst is seen in this picture. The "critics" rate this picture one of the ten best of the year. The second: "Star of Midnight," with Ginger Rogers and William Powell, together for the first time on the screen in the companion feature. Powell and Rogers are absolutely at home in roles made to order for their talents. As a modern Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson combination, they work to solve a murder mystery. Their detective teamwork is unique, to say the least, with the delectable Miss Rogers providing more laughs and heart throbs than clues, although she does inadvertently manage to provide William Powell with the key to the whole mystery. Supporting cast are Paul Kelly, Gene Lockhart and Ralph Morgan.

Thursday to Saturday Marlene Dietrich in "The Devil is a Woman" with Lionel Atwill is the feature and on the same program "Baby Face Harrington" with Charles Butterworth and Una Merkel. Oceans of fun in a one man crime wave, Bob Mills in person every Saturday Matinees with his stage show for the kiddies. Watch for Mae West—she's "Goin' To Town."

Radcliffe Gives Degrees To Six Newton Students

Four young women from Newton received the Bachelor of Arts degree at Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass., at the Commencement exercises on Wednesday, June 19th, in Sanders Theatre. They were Agatha Barron, of 111 Hyde st., Newton Highlands, Mary S. Douglass, of Newton and Brandon, Vermont, Priscilla J. Wales, of 201 Auburn st., Auburndale, and Mary L. Waters, of 1359 Centre st., Newton Centre.

Miss Barron, a graduate of the Brookline High School, has majored in Sociology. The other three candidates for degrees are all graduates of the Newton High School. Miss Wales has majored in the Classics; Miss Waters has majored in Latin and French; and Miss Douglass has concentrated in Sociology. During her first two years at college, Miss Douglass held offices in her class. In her junior year she was secretary of the Student Government Association, and in her senior year, president of that organization. She was also Class Marshal for Commencement, which gives her the privilege of wearing a "Red Tassel."

School Committee Votes To Co-operate With Harvard In Appointing Teachers

Committeeman Bryant Only Opponent of Trial Agreement Favored by Six Members

The Newton School Committee on Monday night voted 6 to 1 to accept the proposal of Supt. of Schools Warren for co-operation between the Newton School Department and the Harvard Graduate School of Education in the appointment of teaching fellows under the following agreement:

(1)—It is proposed that the Dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education shall nominate each year to the Superintendent of the Newton schools a certain number of candidates for appointment to the positions hereinafter described. The nominees will be students in the second year or third year of their graduate study. The Superintendent will select from among the nominees as many persons as he deems advantageous to recommend to the School Committee for appointment. He is not under obligation to select for recommendation to the Newton School Committee any of the persons nominated.

(2)—Those selected for appointment will be known as Harvard-Newton Teaching Fellows. They will be appointed to such posts in the Newton school system as the Superintendent may designate at salaries not exceeding $850 a year. They will serve as apprentice teachers for the school year for which the Fellowship is awarded, but will not be rated as regular teachers for the duration of the Fellowship. It is understood that they will have enough free time to take one course in the Graduate School of Education.

(3)—Fellows appointed under this arrangement will be granted a scholarship covering part of their tuition ($50) at Harvard. Their work will be supervised by instructors in the Harvard School in accordance with such arrangements as the Superintendent may confirm.

Associates Honor Dr. Curtis Of Health Dept.

Dr. Francis G. Curtis, who is retiring as head of the Newton Health Department after 42 years of service, was tendered a testimonial dinner at the Brae Burn Club on Tuesday evening. About thirty of his past and present associates on the Board of Health and the Health Department were present. Dr. Fred H. Lowe of West Newton, who recently retired as City Physician, was toastmaster and among those in attendance were the staff of the Health Department and the school physicians.

Seward Jones, President of the Newton Trust Company, and a member of the first Board of Health in Newton in 1893, told of the organization of the department in that year by the late John C. Brimblecom and Dr. Curtis, upon the latter's appointment as chairman of the Board by Mayor Fenn.

Previously the health activities of the city had been in charge of a committee of the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Jones referred to the fact that for 13 years Dr. Curtis served as head of the Health Department in this city without receiving any salary, and that during his long term of office he originated many health measures which have since become widely copied.

Others who spoke were Dr. Edward R. Utley of Cambridge, physician at the County Jail, and former City Physician of Newton; Dr. Wilson G. Smillie of Waban, a member of the present Board of Health; Dr. Edward Leonard and Dr. Harold D. Chope, recently appointed to the new office of Health Officer of Newton, and Dr. Curtis' successor as head of the department. Dr. Utley reminisced on the activities of the department in former years. Dr. Chope expressed the

One Hundred and Twenty-Five Boys at Popular "Y" Camp at East Brookfield, Massachusetts

One hundred twenty-five happy boys rejoiced when Wednesday, June 26th, the opening day of Camp Frank A. Day at East Brookfield proved to be a perfect June day with bright sunshine and balmy breezes.

The Camp Director, Mr. Clyde G. Hess, and the Camp Staff of twenty-five men had everything in readiness for the boys when they arrived about 11:30. Newton Students Graduate
From Bryant & Stratton

At the annual graduating exercises of the Bryant & Stratton School of Boston, held last Friday evening in Jordan Hall, several Newton young people were awarded their diplomas. They were as follows: Mr. Frederick W. Burns, Jr., of Newtonville, General Business diploma; Miss Helen McCarthy and Miss Clara Kauffman of Newtonville, Stenographic diplomas; Miss Norma Kendall of Newton Center, graduated with honor from the Stenographic Course; Miss Evelyn M. Bille of West Newton, Stenographic diploma; and Mr. N. Grendell Gate, Jr., of Auburndale, Mechanical Accounting diploma.

At the graduation exercises, the class and their friends were welcomed by Mr. L. O. White, Principal. Mr. J. W. Blaisdell, President, introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving, pastor of Trinity Church, Boston.

Many of the present undergraduates will, after a week's vacation, continue their studies in the Summer Session, which starts July 1.

There they will be joined by other high school graduates who do not want to wait until September to start their courses, and by many college men and women who take advantage of the six weeks' Summer Session to acquire such subjects as shorthand, typewriting and accounting, or to take finishing courses in these and kindred subjects.

Between the Summer Session and the Fall Session which opens September 3, there will be a three weeks' vacation.

Students who have attended previous Summer Sessions have been particularly enthusiastic over the progress they could make, due to small classes, intensive instruction and an uninterrupted period of instruction, from nine to one o'clock, the cooler part of the day.

Newton Boys Spot Counterfeiter and Aid in Arrest

James Connors of Greenlawn ave., Newton Centre, and Richard Spencer of Walker st., Newtonville, both employed in an Allston confectionery store, on Sunday evening caught a customer attempting to pass a counterfeit ten dollar bill, chased him, captured and held him until an officer arrived and arrested him.

Spencer was at the cash counter when the man under pretext of wishing to make a small purchase presented a ten dollar bill which the clerk immediately recognized as answering the description of counterfeit money he had been asked to watch out for. He immediately challenged the customer who started for the door and fled before Connors, a husky clerk, could intercept him. Both clerks gave chase down the street for three blocks.

The pursuers yelled for an officer as they ran. After the clerks had cornered their man in a vacant lot, an officer arrived and made the arrest. The prisoner was arraigned on Monday morning in the Brighton District Court on a charge of passing counterfeit money and held for the federal grand jury. It was found that he was wanted by the Worcester police, the state police and federal agents on various charges.

Another Tomb at Old Cemetery Desecrated

On Monday Patrolman Hoyt observed that another tomb at the old cemetery on Centre st., Newton, had been broken into and its contents disturbed. A long piece of iron pipe was found nearby and is believed to have been used by the ghoul who broke open the slab covering the entrance of the tomb. The tomb was that of the Norcross family, early settlers of this city and had been sealed in 1808. Two weeks ago another tomb at the old cemetery was broken into and ransacked.

Votes To Cooperate With Harvard

Supt. of Schools Warren in advocating the acceptance of the co-operation plan stated that the teaching fellows from the Harvard Graduate School will bring new ideas into the Newton schools. School Committeeman Harry Bryant of Newtonville, the only one of the seven members of the committee to vote against the plan, asserted it will shut the doors to Newton young women and men who have studied to be school teachers unless they attend the Harvard Graduate School after graduating from some other institution. He advocated giving opportunities to Newton people to become teachers in the Newton schools. He also called attention to the policy which has been established in the Newton schools for many years of requiring any appointee to have taught at least one year in some school before having been elected to a regular teaching position in the Newton schools. He contended that by having students from the Harvard Graduate School appointed to temporary positions in the Newton schools, more experienced teachers will be prevented from becoming associated with our schools. The committee members who voted for the plan were: Amesbury, Butts, Fernald, Mather, Smith and Mrs. Woods. It was voted to limit the agreement to a one-year trial period.

Rotary Club

Heath, chairman of the program committee, introduced Mr. Fielding.

Miss Edna Macdonough, Secretary of the International Friendship League, spoke briefly during the luncheon on the entertainment offered last summer by English and Danish rotarians to American girls, the plan being that of adopting a girl for a period of two weeks by Rotarian families in order to give them a more intimate acquaintance with the countries visited. The international friendship show to young travelers in Munich, Germany, was also highly recommended. It is hoped that American Rotarians will reciprocate in similar fashion. Plans have been made to extend the work in Europe this summer.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

A testimonial dinner to Dr. George Francis Curtis, former chairman of the Newton Board of Health this week, recalled many Newton residents the valued service rendered the city for many years. For thirteen years Dr. Curtis served without compensation and was an important factor in the development of the program to care for the health of the city upon the establishment of the Health Board over forty years ago. At the time of the formation of this department the city was sparsely populated, the control of tuberculosis and other diseases was in its infancy. But even in those days there was much to be accomplished. And much was accomplished. Today the problem is more complex, there are many other phases of health which must be considered and the growth of the city has necessitated a considerable expansion of the Health Board. During Dr. Curtis' chairmanship of the board for forty-two years he has witnessed remarkable changes in the city. To Dr. Curtis more than to any other one person the people of Newton owe considerable to the foundation of the health program in the city. All honor to whom honor is due.

AN EDUCATIONAL EXPERIMENT

The school committee by an almost unanimous vote has adopted an agreement with the Harvard Graduate School of Education in regard to the appointment of some teachers in the Newton schools. The agreement is restricted to a one-year trial period. We believe that the plan should be regarded as an experiment which should have careful consideration. Too many times have we witnessed theoretically perfect plans fail to work out in a practical fashion. We recognize the various desirable features of the plan as an aid in maintaining the high standards of the Newton teacher appointments. But there are also many angles to the plan which do not seem as desirable. We have always urged the appointment, in so far as possible and practical in keeping with high standards, of Newton men and women to the faculty of the Newton schools. Whether or not the new agreement will tend to prevent such appointments by excluding graduates of normal and teacher colleges other than Harvard we are uncertain. We believe that the Newton School Committee has the judgment and foresight to handle the problem with due consideration of all questions involved. A trial for a year or two should prove the desirability of the plan and we are in accord with the school committee in this procedure.

INDEPENDENCE DAY WARNING

Do you recall the old time celebrations of Independence Day? Columns upon columns of editorials have been written, warning of the dangers of carelessness in the handling of firecrackers, fireworks and other Fourth of July devices. We are among those who take pride in the patriotic observance of the day. The Fourth of July is one of the traditional celebrations of the founding of the nation. It is full of meaning. Officials who are responsible for the safety of the public have good reason to deplore the recklessness and carelessness which many display in observing the day. Our hope is that in celebrating the holiday a little care is given. Do not throw firecrackers in the paths of automobiles or into any vehicle or at any person. Celebrate as you wish but keep in mind that you are directly responsible for your actions.

INCREASED COSTS BRING NO RELIEF

One of the important measures coming before the Legislature this week was the so-called 48-hour law for the employment of those in the state service. Representative Christian Herter of Boston brought out a number of salient points in connection with this bill in an effort to defeat its passage. The bill would restrict the employment of those in the public service, other than officials in charge of institutions and a few other such employees, to a 48-hour week. It would mean the employment of over 1900 additional employees at a cost to the state of nearly two millions of dollars annually for wages. It would eventually mean the erection of dormitories and housing facilities at an additional expense of about two and a quarter million dollars more. For the balance of this year it is estimated that it will cost the state approximately six hundred thousands of dollars. Representative Herter's chief point was that the additional employment of persons in the state service will make it harder rather than less difficult for industry to aid in recovery. While it will provide work and wages for some persons it will impose an additional burden on those who pay the bills. With industry and real estate carrying a severe burden at present how can we hope to relieve conditions unless industry itself can absorb many of the unemployed. Certainly increased government costs will not accomplish this purpose. We believe that public employees should be treated fairly and humanely, but we cannot see the imposition of a greater burden upon the already staggering tax-payer.

Lightning Hits
At NewtonvilleWill Supervise
Jr. High Subjects

The home of James L. Richards, 47 Kirkstall rd., Newtonville, was struck by lightning shortly before 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. The bolt hit and damaged the roof and started a fire which burned into the attic. Mr. Richards' family are away, but prompt discovery of the blaze by Thomas De Simone of Chapel st., caretaker at the estate brought the firemen quickly to the house and the flames were extinguished before serious damage resulted. The damage is estimated at about $500.

Another branch of the same electrical discharge hit a tree in Edmonds Park, about a quarter of a mile from the Richards' house.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edward H. Powers

There's talk now about a new rowing coach at Harvard just as there was in former years when the Cambridge crews were not able to win. It's not all the fault of the coach. What the Harvard crews need is less "Who's Who" and more "What's What."

Only 17 persons killed in Massachusetts last week by automobiles. Three killed instantly in Sturbridge when a truck driven by an alleged drunken driver swerved across a State highway and crashed headlong into a car. A youth standing at a curb in Pittsfield killed by another alleged drunken driver. And rarely or never is a drunken driver convicted in Massachusetts of manslaughter.

Did you read about the big gasoline truck that caught fire at Woonsocket last Sunday at a filling station when a small car collided with it? Thousands of gallons of flaming gasoline ran along the street and six buildings were burned. This won't help petitioners for gasoline filling station permits in the near future.

The principal industries of New England are textiles and shoes. Unless New Englanders want to commit economic suicide and further cripple their principal means of livelihood, they should cease purchasing shoes made in Czechoslovakia, or textiles, silverware and other articles made in Japan. If New England's leading industries are ruined because of cheap, foreign competition, almost every resident of this section, whatever his or her occupation is, will be adversely affected.

Boston newspapers on Wednesday contained an Associated Press dispatch from Washington stating that Mayor Weeks was in the Capitol on Tuesday, and had luncheon with the Republican Congressman from Massachusetts. The item said—"Weeks, insisting on his visit here had no political significance, parried questions as to his own political plans with the comment: 'You wouldn't want a man to show his hand before the pot was opened, would you?' " Anyone reading that alleged statement might possibly suspect that Mayor Weeks plays poker occasionally.

Under modern conditions most persons have ample time for leisure and recreation, even when they have steady employment. The Saturday half-holiday has been enjoyed for years by those in most occupations. Food stores are an exception. They keep open Saturday afternoons and evenings. To give employees in such stores a little opportunity for recreation during the hot, summer months, it has been the practice for years to close on Wednesday afternoons. Most independently owned stores cooperate. Some of the chain stores conducted on a mercenary basis, and disregarding humaneness, do not close. The public, most of whom have Saturday afternoons and other afternoons for recreation, should cooperate by not making food purchases on Wednesday afternoons at stores which keep open.

How much more vandalism must be committed in the old cemetery at Centre and Cotton sts., Newton, before the city will build a fence around this burial place of the early settlers of Newton to protect it from young ghouls who have broken open and desecrated tombs there? The section of the city near the cemetery has been rapidly developed for home sites in the past several years. Boys have been frequently seen using the cemetery as a playground. Names of Newton Centre boys have been scratched on slabs there and lewd scrawls drawn on the old stones. Respect for the pioneers of Newton whose bones lie in the old burying ground obviously is not possessed by some of the younger generation who have moved to this city in recent years. The city government is at fault for not fencing the cemetery in, and the police should spare no efforts to ascertain who the vandals are and properly punish them.

The depression has adversely affected the majority of people and has been blamed for preventing many young folks from marrying. But, the number of marriages in Newton the past two months shows a marked increase over preceding years. Some of the young men and women who got married are either optimists or fatalists because the grooms gave their occupations as students or unemployed.

The protest of School Committee man Harry Bryant against the agreement between the Newton School Department and the Harvard Graduate School of Education which authorizes students at the Cambridge institution to be employed as teachers in the Newton public schools, calls attention again to a controversy which has been waged in this city for some years past. Mr. Bryant in opposing the plan asserted that it will tend to close the doors against opportunities for Newton young men and women to be appointed teachers in the Newton schools unless they attend the Harvard Graduate School. Many complaints have been heard in this city over a considerable length of time that Newton young people, particularly girls who have graduated from Newton schools and from the State Teachers Colleges, have not been able to obtain appointments as teachers in the Newton schools while applicants from other towns and cities, and other States have been given positions in the public schools here.

It has been the contention of the Newton School Committee and Superintendents of Schools in Newton that politics should not influence the appointment of teachers in our schools, that no preference should be given to local girls, just because they are residents of Newton, that ability should be the dominating factor, and that one year's teaching experience must be necessary. Those who claim that Newton young women have not been given fair consideration in appointments to our teaching staff assert that outsiders with less experience in teaching, and whose teaching has sometimes been done in small communities where the schools are far below the Newton standard, have been selected. The critics of the failure to appoint more Newton girls assert that in most other communities local girls are given preference in appointments and thus Newton girls cannot obtain teaching positions. They argue that inasmuch as the parents and grandparents of local applicants have paid taxes in Newton for many years, and since these girls have had the benefit of training in Newton's expensive and highly praised public schools, plus training in the State Normal Schools and other colleges, a much larger percentage of Newton residents should be given positions as teachers in the schools in this city. Last year several Newton girls were appointed. This year out of 30 new appointments, 7 were Newton residents. One of these has only been a resident of the city for one year, and all of the others are not graduates of the Newton schools. The standard of teaching in our schools should be maintained. The suggestion has been made that Newton residents should be given an opportunity to prove their ability in comparison with non-resident applicants for appointments to the teaching staff of the Newton schools by a competitive test.

Crowley Made
Lieutenant

On Monday Chief of Police Hughes announced the appointment of Serg. Daniel E. Crowley as Lieutenant and Patrolman Daniel J. Cleary as Sergeant. These two appointments fill vacancies which have existed for nine months. Last year Inspector John Shaughnessy, who had the rank of Lieutenant, retired because of disability after many years service. Crowley had attained the second highest rating on the examination taken by the sergeants last year for promotion to the rank of Lieutenant, and was first on the list of eligibles following the appointment of Sergeant Mahoney to Lieutenant. A controversy arose as to whether, or not, a successor to Inspector Shaughnessy should be named from the list of eligibles who took the examination for regular Lieutenant, or whether a special examination should be held for a Lieutenant Inspector. Those who contended that the appointment should be made from the regular list of eligibles cited the appointments of Captain Goode and the late Sergeant (Inspector) Feely to the Inspectors Division from the regular lists. The Civil Service Commission ruled that a special examination was not necessary.

Lieutenant Crowley was born at Newton Upper Falls 43 years ago, the son of Michael J. and Katherine (Buckley) Crowley. He was appointed to the Newton police department in April, 1917 and a few months later enlisted for service in France. He was a member of the 310th Supply Company and was overseas for 13 months. He rejoined the police department upon his return in 1919. He was promoted to the rank of sergeant in 1927. He is unmarried and resides at 969 Boylston st.

Sergeant Daniel J. Cleary was born in Newton 43 years ago, the son of William and Bridget (Farrel) Cleary. He joined the Newton Fire Department in 1917 and a few months later enlisted in the Aviation Corps and served at Kelly Field and Brooks Field. He rejoined the fire department in 1919 and resigned in 1924 to join the police department. He resides at 161 California st., Nonantum, is married and has three children.

WEST NEWTON MAN BUYS
"BRAE-HEAD"

"Brae-Head", an ideal estate on Grove st., Needham, about a mile and a quarter from Wellesley Center, has recently been conveyed to Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Edgar of West Newton by Mrs. Robert O. Brigham and Mrs. Grace Stevens.

This inviting white brick colonial home, architecturally perfect in all its exterior and interior detail is replete with modern appointments.

The lawn is gracefully terraced down to Sabrina Lake from the elevated home site. The bright rose and tulip gardens on one side and the deep hollowed rock garden interspersed with rare flowers on the other are in splendid contrast with the somber expanse of green grass. Huge pine trees clustered around the home of the property and along the lake shores give assurance of cool summer days.

The remainder of the property, which consists of a little wooded island in Sabrina Lake, is approached by a rustic foot bridge. The entire parcel consists of 68,300 square feet. The entire estate is valued at $50,000.

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., were the brokers in the transaction and represented both grantor and purchaser.

Hot Springs, Ark., a health resort, is the capital of Garland county, 56 miles west and southwest of Little Rock. It is situated in a narrow valley, between two ridges in a spur of the Ozark mountains, and has many hot springs which are celebrated for treatment of rheumatism, gout, neuralgia and other chronic diseases. The temperature of these springs varies from 70 degrees to 158 degrees Fahrenheit. They are 425 feet above sea level. The springs are owned by the federal government which regulates their use.

Peat Moss

Peat moss is any moss from which peat is formed, especially sphagnum moss, a type of moss which grows only in swamps or in water, where, by animal decay, they build up layers of peat. Peat moss itself is employed by florists in packing potted plants and for other horticultural purposes.

Newton Kiwanis Club Meeting

Acting Mayor John W. Lyons of Cambridge, speaking on the "Rising Cost of Municipal Government," delivered an interesting address on Tuesday at the luncheon meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club in the Charles River Country Club. He quoted an abundance of figures to prove that public demand for more service is just as responsible for high taxes as increased costs for welfare relief brought on by the depression. He declared that he envied Newton, which has the lowest tax rate of any city in Massachusetts, because Cambridge has the second highest in the state.

The Kiwanian was set aside in honor of John Carver, Vice-President, who as an executive of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company has been transferred to another district. Mr. Carver, attending his last meeting of the club as a Newton member, was required to arrange his own program and preside over the meeting.

Plans were made for an interclub Kiwanis Outing at the Sandy Burr Country Club in Wayland on July 16. Affiliated clubs in Waltham, Arlington, Cambridge, Boston and other points in Greater Boston have been invited to take part. In addition to luncheon there will be a six-act vaudeville show by professionals and a golf tournament with a dozen prizes.

New Lafayette Cars Arrive

Rumors that have persisted for some time in the automobile industry to the effect that the Nash Motors Company would begin the parade of 1936 models with a new LaFayette, were confirmed today at 10 August Osterlund, local dealer for Nash and LaFayette cars, at 724 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

The 1936 LaFayette can be taken as an indication of what the motor industry is going to provide in the way of low-priced cars for 1936, even a hasty once over of this new Nash offering would indicate it is going to be a great year for the buyer in the bottom price bracket. In this vanguard of the 1936 season, Nash seems to have provided the buyer of this class car with all the oft-promised things the industry has made features of in more costly models.

The 1936 edition of the Nash invader into the lowest price field promises a series of innovations for buyers of cars in this price class. Greater roominess, new streamlining and all steel bodies are some of the highlights of this new LaFayette.

The 1936 LaFayette, which is understood has been in production for several weeks at Racine, reached Newton this week when the first cars shipped to the A. Osterlund Company arrived from the Nash factory.
